garding Companions

Centralla, Wash.—(AP)—Tom Murray, escaped killer from Oregon state penitentiary at Salem, was captured by a ruse at 12:15 Saturday morning in the Savoy hotel here.

Philip Carson, 28, Portland mechanic, recognized Murray in Vancouver, Wash., Friday night and persuaded the convict to accompany him to Centralla, where he pretended
they would rob a roadhouse.

Murray, who helped plot and execute the penitentiary break Aug. 12, last, hoped by the robbery suggested, to him by Carson to get sufficient money to enable him to travel east. Carson told the police. He had separated from James Willos, and Ellsworth Kelley, convicts who were associated with him in the escape at White Salmon, Wash.

After taking Murray to a room in the hotel, Carson went to the police station and called on Mayor George Barbar and arranged for him and a policeman to called at the hotel.

Returning to his room, he told Murray the two men who were waiting outside, were to assist in the hold-up and prevailed on him to leave the room and go outside to receive an introduction.

Mayor Barber and the patrolman covered Murray with their revolvers
immediately after they had shaken hands with him and he submitted to arrest without resistance.

Murray was placed under a heavy guard at the jail and refused to discuss his case or to say where Willos and Kelley are.

CONCLUDE TESTIMONY
IN LAND HEARINGS

Green Bay—(AP)—Hearing of testimony on the Wisconsin Gas and Electric Co.'s condemnation proceedings for land in Brown co. upon which to construct a transmission line was concluded late Friday, and the matter adjourned until Sept. 9 when attorneys will present their written briefs and oral arguments. A. G. Carson, operating engineer for the Wisconsin Public Service Company which is fighting the proceedings, testified Friday that power from the Northern Paper mills plant at White Rapids will be consumed in the territory of the Peninsula Power Company
while the Northern would use power from the W. G. and E. Company's steam plant to the south, in an emergency calling for the joint use of wires of the two latter companies.
This testimony was given in connection with the claim of the Wisconsin public service that the W. G. and E.
will be encroaching upon its territory
if the new line goes through.

SUPERIOR POLICE
UNEARTH IMMENSE
STILL IN BAKERY

Superior—(AP)—The largest alcohol
redistilling plant ever taken in a raid
by Superior police was found Friday
when Chief of Police A. E. Buchanan headed a searching party into an old bakery building in the heart of the city.

A plant, capable of producing 1,000
gallons of redistilled alcohol daily, consisting of two large copper boilers
and two stills, was seized in the raid.
In addition, the police found 500 gallons of denatured alcohol and 50 gallons of moonshine whiskey.

Chief Buchanan was authorized for the statement that the plant was the largest to be seized by the local police and he intimated the possibility of arrests in connection with the find within 24 hours.

Liquor

st., charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor, paid a fine of $50 and costs totaling $54.20
when he changed his plea to guilty

when arraigned before Judge Theo-

trial was set for Saturday morning.
McGrath had struck a car owned by Earl Miller which was parked in front of Miller's home at 903 E. Alton-rear spring shackle on the Miller car

and a tire rod on his own machine.
Miller called the police, and Detective
Sergeant John Duval and Officer Albert Delgen arrested McGrath at his home at about 8:10 in the evening,
still slightly "under the weather."

STRIKE IN ENGLAND
SLOWS UP SHIPPING

London—(AP)—An unofficial strike
has broken out in London and elsewhere and threatens to spread and effect British ships in foreign ports as it already has done in Australia.
The trouble has arisen through the men having repudiated the recent agreement between the two seamen's unions and the employers for a reduction of wages by one pound sterling monthly. The strike committee says that 15,000 men are involved and that 35 ships are already being held up in London.

The Daily Mail says the strike is due to a plot engineered by communist leaders who aim to bring to a standstill British shipping abroad.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY
PUTS IN APPEARANCE

Milwaukee—(AP)—Federal author-ties with headquarters here, assisted by police of Wisconsin are joining hands with those of other states in a search for the source of spurious $20 gold certificates. It is estimated that $500,000 worth of fake bills are in circulation.

Six arrests have been made in connection with counterfeiting, four in Detroit, Mich., one in Rockford, Ill., and one at Kenosha, Wis.
Captain Thomas L. Potter, chief of the government agents in Chicago,
has issued a warning against the spread of the fake notes, declaring the work is well done, printed on genuine paper with silk threads, and the gold coloring on the back is excellent.

COOLIDGE RETURNS
TO DESK AND FINDS
MASS OF BUSINESS

Swampscott, Mass.—(AP)—Returning
to his desk in his study at Whitecourt
Saturday after an eight-day absence, President Coolidge found a mass of routine business awaiting his consideration and a list of engagements that was a reminder of busy days at the White House.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge returned to the summer White House late Friday by motor from Northampton, Mass., where they visited over night with Mrs. Elmina Goodhue, Mrs.
Coolidge's mother, on their way from Plymouth, Vt.

Death Of Victor Lawson
Means Passing Of Unusual
Man, Declares Lawrence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1925, By Post Pub. Co.
Chicago — A private citizen with more influence than many men in public life have ever enjoyed has passed out of the world, and newspapers from one end of the country to the other are eulogizing him as they have few personalities of this generation. For Victor F. Lawson, editor and publisher of the Chicago
Daily News, was a truly great man,
a rare example of a devout, earnest,
philanthropic citizen who never aspired to public office and who lived
the kind of a life to the end of his 75 years that he had deliberately planned to live.

All Chicago mourns his loss. The Chicago Tribune, in a front page cartoon today entitled "Lost—A Great Citizen" indicates the tenor of the expression from business rivals,
friends and opponents alike.
Outside of Chicago, newspaper editors and publishers knew Victor Lawson as one of the founders of a great news-gathering agency — The Associated Press—and as a contributor to a specialized agency known as the Consolidated Press Association,

in which has been embodied the Chicago Daily News foreign service,
something on which he labored painstakingly to the end. For he believed in foreign news truthfully and accurately told. His associates on the Chicago Daily News in a final editorial thus pay tribute to him:

"Victor Fremont Lawson for many years was the dominating figure in the struggle for freedom in the news.
He led the historic fight 30 years ago
against the creation of a news monopoly in this country. He was the pioneer in establishing a world wide foreign news service from the domination of foreign news agencies and foreign newspapers in order that the American people might have the truth and be liberated from propaganda masquerading as news.
He died in harness as he wished to die, with his mind full of plans by which to help humanity. We shall not look upon his like again."

And so with other expressions from President Coolidge and members of the cabinet down to the humble folk whose benefactor he was in charities
so extensive that they never will be known. Modesty was his outstanding characteristic. So long as he lived he never permitted anything about him to be printed in his newspaper beyond the merest mention of his name when the news of the day compelled such mention.

The people of Chicago probably never knew until today about the wonderful work he did. Politicians knew him as independent and fearless. He told the writer a story one about political ambition as he viewed
it.

"One day," he said, "a prominent political leader came to me and suggested that I should run for senator."

CHARGE MAN WITH BURNING VILLAGE

Father of Accused Furnished
$5,000 Bond; Set Hearing
for Sept. 4

Menominee, Mich.—(AP)—David E.
Crawford, 49, of Marinette, Wis., owner of the village of Cedar River, Mich.,
and 34,000 acres surrounding it, was arrested late Friday on a charge of arson in connection with the burning of practically the entire village of Cedar River on June 8, last. Thirty buildings, including the postoffice,
sawmill, general store and dwelling houses were destroyed in the fire. The amount of insurance carried was $138,750 and Crawford claimed total loss. Proof of loss was filed Aug. 1.

Investigators Fred L. Bedard and Joseph J. Pristas, of the Michigan department of public safety, declare that suspicion of arson arose because of the apparent mysterious origin of the fire and the great amount of insurance carried on vacant buildings.
Crawford's bond was fixed at $5,000
and preliminary hearing set for Sept. 4.
Samuel Crawford, aged father of the accused, furnished the bond.

former Chicago business man and later a Madison, Wis., banker, evangelist and embezzler, must serve a five year sentence in the federal penitentiary for using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Federal Judge Alschuler, Evans and Page, sitting on bench in the United States Circuit court of Appeals Friday affirmed the sentence of the district court. Arnold was charged with swindling small stockholders out of upward of $1,000,000 through his operation of the Madison Bond company.

STATE IS HOST
TO DELEGATION OF SOUTHERNERS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Wisconsin and Mississippi joined hands Friday night
when 150 Mississippians, headed by Lieutenant Governor Murphree and Dr. B. M. Walker, president of the Mississippi A. & M. College, were guests of Milwaukee.

The Mississippi men were here to study dairy conditions in Wisconsin and establish relations between the two states. Mississippi wants to understand what Wisconsin knows about dairy that the southern state may also develop its resources in that direction.
There is a ready market in the south,
according to Lieutenant Governor Murphree, for Wisconsin cattle, and a large amount of Wisconsin dairy products.

At the meeting Friday night John
D. Jones, state commissioner of agriculture, was among the speakers, and in welcoming the visitors said Wisconsin's attitude was to help all those who desire to know what Wisconsin has learned in progressive agricultural and dairy work. The delegation will visit Fort Atkinson, Monroe, Lake Mills, Madison and Waukesha before leaving for the south. They are scheduled to arrive in Madison late Saturday.

COURT PONDS DECISION IN CHRYSLER CASE

Auto Attorney Says Agents
Do Not Interfere With Insurance Company

Superior—(AP)—Judgment in the hearing before Judges Evan A. Evans, F.
A. Geiger and C. Z. Luse at Superior in which the Chrysler Sales Corporation seeks an interlocutory injunction against W. Stanley Smith to prevent him from interfering with the sales plan of the plaintiff which includes a provision for fire and theft insurance on every Chrysler car sold probably will be taken under advisement. It was indicated in court Saturday morning.

H. M. Wilkie, Madison, chief attorney for the Chrysler Co., argued in court that the attempt of the insurance commissioner of Wisconsin
to interfere with the sales plan of the Chrysler agents in the state by which every purchaser of Chrysler car obtains insurance is in violation of the fourteenth amendment of the United States Constitution. He alleged that the Chrysler agents are not in any way agents of the Palmetto insurance co. of South Carolina and that the contract for the insurance
is issued in the state of Michigan.
He argued that the contract so made and binding on cars sold in Wisconsin is a foreign contract and not applicable to the laws of Wisconsin.

Attorney General Herman L. Ekern
of Wisconsin arguing for the defendant commissioner, declared that the insurance issued on the Chrysler cars
in Wisconsin is in fact written in Wisconsin and that the automobile company agents are in truth agents
of the Palmetto insurance company
since no policy is issued until after the car is sold and that the cost of the car and is collected by the seller of the car in which he has a profit.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs in the case besides Mr. Wilkie, who appeared in court, are Nicholas Kelly and Duane R. Dills, New York, and E. G.
Ince of Chicago. Assistant Attorney General Ekern are Assistant Attorney General T. L. McIntosh and W.
H. Bennett of New York.

DENIES FRATERNITIES
EXEMPTION FROM TAXES

Chicago—(AP)—College fraternities
are not educational nor charitable societies, Judge Edmund K. Jarecki ruled Saturday in denying 20 of them
exemption from taxes.

Automobile Owners Smile
As Gas Men Lower Prices

Chicago—(AP)—Motorists are wearing broad grins and their chariots are chugging along merrily in four sections of the midwest Saturday as wars between rival dealers have brought tobogganing gasoline prices.
The hierarchy is highest in Decatur,
Ill., where prices are the lowest.
There national concerns attempting to drive out independents have trimmed costs from 23 cents a gallon to 15 and 17 cents. Several of the smaller stations have succumbed,
others have suspended until the war
is over and others continue to fight.

In Wichita, Kan., where the fight has raged for months, prices are down to 13.8 cents a gallon, plus state tax of two cents. The largest company announces prices are 1.5
to 20.5 plus tax. Two rivals in Woonsocket, S. D., started it and neutrals are compelled to follow suit for a while and then suspend to let them fight it out. Atter six days the Lake Side garage is down to 17 cents and the Texaco representative to 18.
Independent dealers in Kansas have started making price cuts in efforts to cut down competition with resultant price range from 13.5 to 23.3 cents per gallon.

LEGION HEAD

H. L. "PEP" PLUMMER

PLUMMER GIVEN NICKNAME FROM LEGION RECORD

Is Responsible for Excellent Showing Made by State in Membership

Cadott—H. L. "Pep" Plummer, who Saturday was unanimously elected commander of the Wisconsin department American Legion at the state convention at Stevens Point, derives his nickname from the amount of work he has done for the Legion during the past five years. He was responsible in the capacity of state director of membership this year for the excellent showing of the Wisconsin department in membership. The fact that Wisconsin stands sixth in the nation today is cited as an example of his ability.

Plummer enlisted as a buck private in May, 1917, in the 4th Wisconsin
Infantry, 32nd Division, serving under R. Bruce McCoy. During the organization of the 32nd Division he was assigned to the 107th Ammunition Train as sergeant. With this outfit he sailed overseas Feb. 1st, 1918,
and served in five major engagements. He was commissioned a lieutenant Sept. 28, 1918, as a result of a citation for bravery under fire and assigned to the 65th Coast Artillery.

He returned to America in February, 1918, and immediately began his legion work. He organized the post of the American Legion at Durand, Wis., and served as the first post commander of that post. After moving Cadott, he served two years as commander of the Cadott
post also. Last year Commander Plummer was department director of membership as well as executive committeeman for the tenth congressional district. He refused to run for a third term as mayor of Cadott because of his Legion duties. Mr. Plummer was born at Durand, He is 31
years of age, is a graduate of the State Normal school at La Crosse
and was principal of the Durand High school for three years prior to his

SAYS ACTION OF U. W.
REGENTS IS ILLEGAL

Milwaukee—(AP)—Theodore Kronshage, president of the board of university regents, in a statement issued here declared that the recent action of the board against accepting gifts from incorporated endowments was illegal.
"The regents had no authority to turn down recent large gifts offered them," he said. "There is a Wisconsin law, drafted by Senator William F.
Vilas in 1882, which states that the university is bound to accept gifts and use them for the best purposes of the institution.
"This has been the law of the land
ever since, and according to my interpretation and that of every other lawyer with whom I have discussed the recent action of the board."

BATTLE IN HOTEL LOBBY

Fiery Albuquerque Publisher Assaulted by Jurist He Attacked in Paper

East Las Vegas, N. M.—(AP)—Carl
C. Magee, Albuquerque editor Saturday faces first degree murder charges
in New Mexico courts in which he gained national prominence during the last two years as defendant in the now famous "Magee libel and com-tempt cases."

The charges filed Friday night
grows out of Magee's encounter Friday night in a hotel lobby with former Judge David J. Leahy, during which John B. Lassater, a bystand-er of Santa Fe was shot to death and Leahy wounded in the upper left arm.
Leahy, witnesses said, attacked Mr.
Magee on seeing him in the hotel lobby.
The editor had been pummeled to the floor by the ex-jurist when he whipped out his gun, and the first shot snuffed out Lassater's life as he moved to separate the fighter, those who saw the encounter said.

The fight and the shooting closed
another chapter in the high tension career of Magee. In July, 1923, he was convicted of libel by a jury in Judge Leahy's court in connection with the publication of editorial at-

of the New Mexican supreme court.
Sentences were pronounced by Judge James F. Hinkle before being taken to the penitentiary.

A year later he was hailed into court by Leahy for editorially criticizing the court while other charges
in connection with the libel case were pending. Leahy held him in contempt and sentenced him to three months imprisonment. He served on day and one night in jail and Hinkle pardoned him again. While imprisoned he is said to have smuggled "copy" to his newspaper, maintaining the attack on Leahy.

ness before the senate oil committee
and told the investigators of rumors
he had heard about "$100,000 in sub-

The contempt case was the last flareup of consequence between Ma-

last fall he waged a sizzling campaign

WHIPPET RACES GAIN
POPULARITY IN LONDON

By Associated Press

London—Whippet racing, long a popular sport in the north of England, has reached London, where meets are held weekly at various athletic grounds. Instead of chasing rabbits or hares, the dogs race toward their masters at the end of the course.

The dogs are treated much the same as race horses and appear to enjoy the races as much as their owners and followers of the pastime. Books are made on each race and the course takes on much of the aspect of a miniature horse race track.

Let Common Sense Dictate
Preparations For School

Exercise of plain common sense will determine how to prepare Johnny and Mary for the opening of school. Dr. William C. Felton, city health officer, declared in a discussion of what should be done to safeguard the health of youngsters at the start of the fall term.

"Rules and regulations for parents who are sending children to school are all right but few people heed them," the health officer said. "What may be a good thing for one child is just the wrong thing for another. Use common sense in preparing your children for school, that's my advice."

Dr. Felton said.

Dr. Felton expressed his approval of vaccination and said that parents who neglected to have their children vaccinated last year should not fail to do so before the opening of school if they desired to prevent a repetition of a smallpox epidemic.

"An inspection of the teeth by a good dentist just before the opening of school, and regular cleaning of the teeth will prevent trouble which might cause the children to miss their school work," said the doctor.

Removal of tonsils and adenoids are matters which should be left to the family physician, he said. "They are there for a purpose," declared

PLANT BLACK BASS IN LAKE BUTTE DES MORTS

Seventeen cans of young black bass were emptied into the waters of Lake Butte des Morts last week by the Isaak Walton league of Oshkosh. The fish were obtained from the Winneshiek bottoms along the Mississippi river and were planted in Lake Butte des Morts, as the water of that lake is said to be more desirable for the propagation of fish than the water of Lake Winnebago.

Clyde B. Terrell, secretary of the Oshkosh Isaak Walton league, said the Winneshiek bottoms make the greatest natural bass hatchery in the country. During the flood season the fish are floated over into low land adjoining the Mississippi river, and when the water subsides, they are left in small ponds or sloughs, cut off from the river. As these isolated bodies of water dry

Given Over to Parent-

George S. Dick, connected with the state superintendent of schools office will be the main speaker at the annual school board convention for Outagamie-co which will be held Thursday, Aug. 27 at Lawrence Memorial chapel, according to an announcement received by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools from the state department of education. A member of the state department is detailed to each county for the annual meetings. Mr. Dick had charge of considerable state work in this county during the last school year.

Other speakers at the convention will be Mr. Meating, W. P. Hagman of Kaukauna, superintendent of the county training school, and a representative of the state board of health. The latter's name has not yet been received.

One entire session will be given over to Parent-Teacher associations of the county and officers of the associations in rural school districts have been invited to attend. Outagamie-co had 67 definite groups at the end of the last school year and Mr. Meating expects to start out with this 67 as a basis this year and put one in every district in the county. No other county in the state, although some have one extra group, has as many rural Parent-Teacher associations as Outagamie-co, Mr. Meating said.

Mr. Meating is preparing sample copies of suggestive programs for each month to be sent to the various county associations for use. These may be followed entirely or in parts as the groups decide. A list of speakers for meetings and the periods they are available also is included in the programs.

ANOTHER FAKE $20 BILL
GOES INTO CIRCULATION

The United States Treasury announces the circulation of a new counterfeit which has been apprehended and all are warned of its existence.

It is a "$20 gold certificate; series of 1922; check letter 'G'; plate number 656; H. V. Speelman, Register of the Treasury; Frank White, treasurer of the United States; Portrait of Washington."

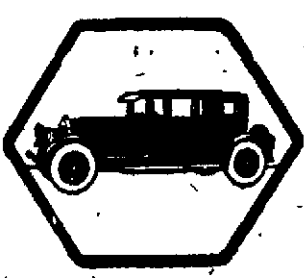

The counterfeit is not of good workmanship, and is not particularly dangerous; it should be detected by a careful handler of currency. It is made, obviously, from lithographic plates and the printing is blotchy and carelessly executed. It is suggested that a careful vigil for bad notes be kept.

Getting Ice and Fire
Over a Single Wire

Electricity does it—the modern magician. Fourteen million American homes get fire over the wire, in the form of electric light and heat.

When 1924 closed its record, 70,000 of those homes were also getting ice over the same wires that brought them fire in the forms of electric light and heat. During 1925, 80,000 more homes will enjoy ice by wire—electric refrigeration. Next year, plans provide for adding another 200,000 to 250,000. By 1929, it is estimated, 5,000,000 American homes will be "getting ice and fire over a single wire."

Wisconsin, always prompt to buy new electric service conveniences, will have her full share of that estimated 5,000,000 users of electric refrigeration.

This is just one of many steadily increasing demands made upon the resources of our power plants. Wisconsin Electric Power Company has had to continue enlarging the great Lakeside power plant ever since it was opened in 1920, and is still adding new generating equipment on a large scale.

To finance this growth we are selling the company's 6 1/2% cumulative preferred shares, at $100 each, payable all cash or $5 monthly per share. Buying either way, purchasers of these super-safe shares get 6 1/2% income from every dollar invested, from the day shares are bought.

Continued large future growth of the property, and continued regular earning of dividends are as certain as anything in business can be. We recommend these shares as a safe, permanent, income investment for the savings of Wisconsin men and women.

If it is not convenient for you to visit one of our offices, we shall be glad to send a salesman, at your own convenience, to tell you more about these shares. Mail orders are filled promptly by registered letter.

NORTH AMERICAN COMPANY BUILDS AT GREEN BAY

New Power Plant in Ancient City to Be One of Most Modern in World

The North American Co., of which the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. of this city is a subsidiary, is constructing one of the most efficient plants in the world at Green Bay, according to S. B. Way, president of the Wisconsin Gas and Electric Co., who recently visited that city.

The plant is being constructed at Green Bay for several reasons. In the first place the plant can be supplied with coal at the docks costing nearly $1 per ton less than it can be delivered at the company's plant in Appleton, and can thus furnish energy and take care of substantial growth in that district and in northern Wisconsin and Michigan territory where conditions for further addition to steam power plants are unfavorable from an economy standpoint. The situation of the plant there also affords protection to the company's northern territory in case of transmission line trouble.

SUPPLEMENTS WATER
When water in the northern streams would otherwise be going to waste, the large high capacity transmission lines now being completed will bring energy to points of use further south, it is pointed out. When these streams are running low, as is the case at the present time, the Green Bay plant will provide an efficient source of low cost power.

While the local plant has been greatly increased in both capacity and efficiency this year, its capacity as well as the available capacity from the company's other plants will be entirely taken up by the rapidly increasing demand for electric energy which is occurring on all parts of the company's system.

The company has been increasing its steam generating capacity at the rate of 30,000 kilowatts or more a year for several years past and the rate of increase has not been greater than required to supply increased demands for energy and provide for retirement of superannuated or worn out equipment. It is evident that the installation of a first unit of 20,000 kilowatts in the new plant at Green Bay will not mark any abnormal increase in the company's capacity. It will, however, provide needed additional capacity at a most advantageous point on the company's interconnected system as a whole.

Although no verification of the report was obtained from the local plant, it is said that the Lakeside plant at Milwaukee, the Peninsula Power Co. in northern Michigan and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. of Appleton will be linked by a high tension line in the near future. It is expected that a verification of this plan will be made by the company shortly.

OSHKOSH REPORTS HUGE TRAFFIC ON ROUTE 15

Traffic over route 15 through Appleton last Sunday was not nearly as heavy as traffic over the same highway through Oshkosh according to figures revealed by censuses taken at both cities on that date. The Appleton census, taken at N. Leminaw-st and E. Wisconsin-ave, disclosed a total of 5,799 vehicles passing that point between 6 o'clock in the morning and 11 o'clock at night. At Oshkosh the count was taken just south of the city limits on highway 15, and this census showed 8,453 vehicles between 6 and 11 o'clock. The Appleton count showed a gain of 193 vehicles over the census taken just a year ago while the Oshkosh census revealed an enormous increase over the census taken at that city on Aug. 17, 1924, when 5,642 vehicles were counted.

A count taken Sunday at Waupaca at the junction of state highways 18, 22, and 54 showed a total of 5,074 vehicles using these highways at the Chain of Lakes city. On highway 18 there were 1,845 vehicles, Highway 54 had 1,656, and 2,473 vehicles passed over highway 22.

BIG PROGRAM OUTLINED FOR FAIR AT CHILTON

Calumet-co will hold its annual fair Sept. 16, 17 and 18, with night programs on the last two days, according to the premium books which have just been completed. Under the motto, "a lot of everything of the fair association has arranged a program of races and entertainment which they claim will be different from anything ever before exhibited in this part of the state.

There will be a two days' racing program. On Thursday, Sept. 17, a 215 pace and a 224 trot will be presented, while a 220 pace and a 218 trot will be held the following day. A purse of $300 will be offered for the northwest corner of the building, and the room immediately below it have been given new coats of paint.

The walls of the manual arts shop rooms in the basement have been whitewashed. Repainting has been done in the gymnasium, and in some places in the corridors. Practically all the minor repairs have been completed, but there still remains the repainting of the school heating system, and the replacing of worn out parts in the system. The contract for this work has been awarded, but some time will be required for its completion.

70 HORSEPOWER GENERATED BY ## BUICK'S MOTOR

Slightly Larger Bore and Improved Carburetion Increase Power

A six cylinder valve-in-head engine of 75 horse power, a speed of 75 miles an hour and 175 foot pounds engine torque at 1500 revolutions per minute—that describes the power plant of the Master Six Better Buick. An increase in power has been made in the engine of the Standard Six, which generates 60 horse power, has a speed of 70 miles an hour and 140 foot pounds engine torque. This great power has been developed with no increase in compression, and only eight per cent increase in the bore.

Improved carburetion and manifold, being partly responsible for the additional horsepower and engine torque. The carburetor has been slightly enlarged, and a change in the manifold has resulted in better distribution of gas to the cylinders. These, together with the automatic heat control to the carburetor have resulted in an engine that is in a class by itself for power, efficiency and economy.

This considerable increase in engine power necessitated many other changes so that every part of the engine car would be in perfect balance. The multiple disk dry plate clutch has been materially strengthened. It is composed of ten plates. Five are driving plates, which are toothed on the outer side, the teeth fitting into grooves on the inside of the flywheel. The other five are driven plates with teeth on the inside which fit on the clutch hub. Owing to the large number of plates and felt on surfaces, on a light spring is required, which gives the easiest possible clutch action.

In conformity with the other high powered units, the transmission rear axle and drive shaft have been considerably strengthened throughout to transmit the exceptionally high power now generated by the Buick valve-in-head engines.

Smaller and heavier wheels are being used. The hubs and spokes have been materially enlarged, and the spokes have been made shorter to give a smaller diameter for the large size low pressure tires. The tires on the Master Six are 33 by 6; on the Standard Six 31 by 5.25.

Headlights and the method of mounting have been changed. The lamps now are mounted on a cross bracket running from fender to fender. This gives additional stability and eliminates the necessity of having right and left hand lamps.

The lights themselves are a new development which does away with dimming. Each lamp carries two filaments which are of equal brilliancy. When the switches are on "bright" there is a strong light directly ahead along the road. When the switch is shifted rays of identical strength are thrown forth, but at a deflected angle, immediately in front of the car. This innovation gives the Buick driver ample light which is neither dazzling nor dangerous to other motorists. It is a vast improvement over the old dimmer system. The switch which controls the long and short rays is located in the center of the driver's wheel close to the hand of the steering wheel.

The development of a new water pump driven by the generator has eliminated all but one packing at the pump.

A two-unit Delco electric system is used. This includes a powerful starting motor with a cranking speed of 30 per cent greater than formerly. The starter does not start revolving until after the starter gear is engaged with the teeth on the flywheel, thus eliminating the possibility of breaking the teeth on the flywheel.

The generator is driven directly by the timing gears and gives a more efficient lighting and battery charge. Both generator and starter are integral parts of the engine and were especially designed by Buick and Delco engineers. All wire connections are protected with rubber ferrules to keep out water and to prevent short circuits.

Another innovation is six steel brackets to the frame to act as additional supports for the closed bodies. Also lugs have been provided on the rear axle to accommodate a jack when tire changing is necessary.

In addition to the proven Buick valve-in-head engine, four wheel brakes, torque tube drive, sealed chassis and cantilever springs—in fact all of the factors which have distinguished Buick in the past, have been continued.

The Standard Six line consists of a five passenger two-door sedan; two passenger roadster; five passenger touring; two passenger coupe; five passenger four-door sedan; and four passenger brougham sedan. All are finished in Buick gray Duco with red striping under moulding, on louvers and wheel spokes.

OLD CRAFTSMEN OUTCLASSED BY ## MODERN WORKERS

Build Workmen of Sixteenth Century Couldn't Build Body Like on Oldsmobile

Undue praise is bestowed on the craftsman and artisan of the past principally through our tendency to heap laurel wreaths on the brow of antiquity without proper knowledge. If guild workmen of the sixteenth century were to try to build a present Oldsmobile, the result would be a car greatly lacking in accuracy and precision and selling at a fabulous price instead of less than $900.

Credit is thus bestowed on workmen for what they accomplished with the meager equipment of those times. But it is decidedly unfair to present day workmen and industrial scientists to exalt the craftsman of the past and his product. It can be safely said that these men in an entire century failed to bring about economies and betterments in manufacture as have, for example, been accomplished by the Olds Motor Works during the past year.

In olden times men served long apprenticeship, learning to do as their elders had done for generations past. The more progressive sometimes traveled to other cities seeking new methods, and this was the chief way progress was gained. Today corps of highly trained men are constantly directing experiments and tests. Under them are skilled workmen who carry on the actual work. Every day something new is tried and something new is learned.

The recent introduction by the Olds Motor Works of the latest Oldsmobile with added power, beauty and performance at drastically reduced prices is illustrative of the vast difference between crafts of today and yesterday. Under the ancient system such an accomplishment would have been impossible.

For months an enlarged Oldsmobile engineering staff has been working toward two purposes—one to create improvements and the other to reduce manufacturing costs without the sacrifice of quality.

Unlike their prototypes who strove to excel along established lines only these craftsmen of 1925 work on the assumption that every thing can be improved upon and that every process can be performed better and more simply. That which has been proven good is to them not good enough. One group of skilled engineers devoted their time and talents towards changes that would result in more engine power without adding weight or sacrificing economy. A large value here, a slight change in shape of another part, the lengthening of one rod or the shortening of another—such things as these were decided upon after exhaustive tests.

Every idea was tried out thoroughly before acceptance or rejection. Engines containing a proposed change were tested on dynamometers for hundreds of hours and their every degree of performance registered by delicate instruments. Then cars equipped with these engines were run thousands of miles around the 146 acre proving grounds maintained by General Motors Corporation. The proving ground roads approximate every condition an automobile will be called to face, containing varying tire grades and constructed of different kinds of road material, from a rough dirt road to the latest concrete speedway.

At the same time another group of experts was busy with manufacturing details of single operations. Machines that appeared to the laymen to have unchangeable intelligence and speed were improved upon. Changes in layout made further savings in time and labor. The result of these labors was the ability to make a better Oldsmobile at a lower cost than ever before.

What Oldsmobile has succeeded in accomplishing and its continual striving for improvement toward perfection, is just one illustration of the spirit that has made the automobile business the foremost of this country and its craftsmen the peers of the workers all times.

A few years ago tire manufacturers built tires on the principle that the more plies they put into a tire, the greater would be its wearing qualities. But it was soon found that there was a flaw in this theory. Every time a tire revolves it flexes, or changes its shape slightly. This continual movement in a heavy, stiff tire causes the plies to become separated. Then internal friction sets in—and the tire heats up and burns out from the inside.

It was demonstrated that a more flexible tire, one with fewer but stronger plies, would outwear a heavier one—and possess far superior riding qualities. By using only 4 to 6 plies, according to the size and local requirements, Miller Tire men found that they could reduce this internal friction to a minimum—and greatly lighten the life of the tire.

By building this tire in the flattened shape it takes when under load, the tread wears down evenly and an astonishing amount of additional mileage is obtained. In addition to remarkable durability, a less-ply balloon absorbs the shocks of the road much more effectively than could a tire of heavier construction.

AUTOS PER DAY

Huge Output Insufficient to Meet Order for Either Four or Six

Seven hundred and fifty Chrysler cars, 500 of them the new Chrysler Four, are now being turned out every day by the Chrysler Corporation in its effort to catch up with the country-wide demand for its cars. The plants are working on a schedule of 16,000 cars in July. Unfilled orders at the factory are the greatest in the history of the organization, according to J. E. Fields vice president in charge of sales.

"The first showing of the Chrysler Four has attracted thousands to our showrooms," said Mr. Fields in a statement, issued yesterday. "Scores have placed orders, without demonstration, after a first view of the car. So instantaneous has been its appeal that, already, public demand exceeds our scheduled production."

The outlook for increasing business in August. One of the chief indications of this appears in agricultural sections of the country, where farmers are coming in to the market in rapidly growing numbers.

Evidence of this is found in the remarkable sales of Fordson tractors during July. Sales reports received by the Ford Motor Company from branches throughout the country during the past week show an increased demand for trucks and tractors with retail deliveries exceeding those of last year.

Figures from these reports, which cover the first twenty days of July and which were just given out, gives the sales of Ford one ton trucks as totaling 12,168, an increase of 30 per cent over the same number of days in July last year.

While the greater portion of the truck sales cover the industrial installations, there is a noticeable increase in deliveries in rural sections where harvesting of crops is under way or is just beginning. Another feature indicating that farmers are coming into the buying market is increasing numbers, comes in the report of Fordson Tractor sales. Retail deliveries of Fordsons during the first twenty days of July numbered 3,666, an increase of 43 per cent over the same number of days in July a year ago.

Mr. Fields announces that orders for both Four and Six cylinder cars taken by Chrysler distributors and dealers since the advent of the Chrysler Four, June 25, have consistently been the largest reached at any time in its history. He estimates from reports filed by factory district supervisors throughout the country that an average of more than 1000 retail orders for Chrysler Fours and Sixes have been placed since that time.

DODGE BROTHERS CUT THEIR PRICES

Reduction Is Made Possible by Constantly Increasing Production

Announcement of a reduction in the prices of Dodge Brothers Motor Vehicles, both passenger and commercial, effective Monday, August 17th, has been received by Wolter Automobile and Implement Co., local dealer.

New list prices, f. o. b. Detroit, are as follows:

Standard Types
Touring	$ 875
A-Sedan	1195
B-Sedan	1045
Coach	960
Panel Commercial	1035
Seren Commercial	950
Special Types
Touring	$ 975
A-Sedan	1530
B-Sedan	1145
Coach	1060
Panel Commercial	1135

The price of the Roadster, $855, and that of the Chassis, $730, remain unchanged.

"These new prices come at a time when Dodge Brothers product has reached the highest peak of mechanical perfection in its history," declares Mr. R. K. Wolter, "in an attempt to supply public demand, factory production has been stepped up since the present rate of over 1,100 and now Dodge Brothers are pushing as rapidly as possible an eight million dollar expansion program to give them buildings and machinery for a production of 1,500 cars a day.

"This price cut is just the application of Dodge Brothers policy of faithfully returning to the buyer the saving made possible by increased production. Since the first of this year production has been steadily increased month after month. The first six months of 1925 were the largest in the factory's history—more than 11 per cent greater than the first six months of 1924. The problem for Dodge Brothers executives has been not to find a market for their product, but to increase production to supply a ready market.

"The constantly increasing, yet never satisfied demand for Dodge Brothers Motor Cars is convincing evidence that a motor wise public is more and more appreciative of the greater value made possible by Dodge Brothers sound policy of constantly improving a basic design instead of bringing out a new model every year."

RECORD JULY FOR FORD CO.

GAIN RESPECT

Motor Company Expects Even Larger Business Volume During August

Detroit—During the month just ended the Ford Motor Co. did a record July business in every division, it was today announced at the Highland Park general office.

Domestic sales of Ford cars and trucks totaled 167,626 in July exceeding by 6,182 those of a year ago. Sales of Fordson tractors were more than 3,300 greater than last year and 207 more Lincoln cars were delivered to customers during the month than in the previous July.

On the basis of branch reports received early in July the company anticipated an increased volume of business and while it predicted that summer buying would rise to a higher level than usual, the demand for all Ford products during the month exceeded expectations.

REO PRACTICES

GAIN RESPECT

Reo Engineers Believe Ground Cylinders Are Superior to Reamed Walls

Throughout its history, the Reo Motor Car Company has been respected in the automobile industry for its manufacturing and production methods. In all departments its practices are of the highest order those of the machine shop especially having come in for a large amount of discussion and praise.

One of its outstanding practices has been to finish all cylinders by grinding rather than by reaming. Grinding, in the estimation of Reo engineers and executives, gives the best surface obtainable to the walls of the cylinders.

Misalignment of cylinders is unheard of in a finished Reo block, for that the casting is faulty as soon as the grinding wheel reveals the fact the operation is begun, and the block is immediately rejected. A reamer, on the other hand, will adjust itself to the cylinder, falling to act as a check on the position in the block.

A reamer is also inclined to "ride" hard spots in a casting, forming corresponding depressions in the wall opposite the hard spots. Since gray iron castings are not uniform in hardness, this is a serious fault in a finish operation.

The grinding wheel, however, cuts evenly around the walls of the cylinder, leaving a surface uniformly smooth and cylindrical.

Then, too, the reamer leaves a burr on the surface plainly seen under a microscope. This burr aids in giving a close piston fit when the engine is new, but after a few thousands of miles the burrs are worn down, leaving too much clearance between pistons and cylinder walls. Oil pumping, vibration and piston slaps result.

It is probable that, in the final analysis, grinding will be found a slightly more expensive process than reaming; but when the life of a motor car is figured upward from 50,000 miles, it would seem that any small added cost which will lead to satisfactory performance during the last of this mileage, is warranted.

MOTOR BUYERS

CHANGE HABITS

People Buy Cars at Any Time of Year Now Instead of in Spring and Fall

Back from a 9,000-mile trip through the United States to observe business conditions in the automobile industry, Mr. L. E. Corcoran, general sales manager of the Pierce-Arrow Car Company, declares that the motor car buying habits of the public have undergone a pronounced change.

"In contrast with former years, automobile sales this year have continued at high levels during the summer months," said Mr. Corcoran. "This is one of the several evidences that the unhealthy condition of peak buying activity in spring and fall and sales stagnation in midwinter and midsummer is rapidly being wiped out."

"Buyers in increasing numbers are coming to the conclusion that it is just as sensible to buy in one month as it is in another, regardless of the season."

"The habit of buying in the spring is a heritage from the old days when there were few closed cars and automobiles were suitable only for fair weather driving. The ability of manufacturers to produce all season closed cars at prices close to those of open models has changed all this."

"The habit of buying in early fall was the result of the uneconomical practice of some makers of announcing radical changes and new models in midsummer. The more stable manufacturers for several years have been pursuing the sound policy of continuously making gradual improvements without announcing yearly models. Buyers of cars built under such a policy know that they will not be subjected to artificial depreciation losses and therefore do not hesitate to buy in any month of the year."

Mr. Corcoran, who spent weeks on the Pacific coast, reported that Pierce-Arrow sales throughout the country continue to mount, especially with the stimulation which resulted from the introduction of the new Pierce-Arrow coach.

"Our enlarged distributive organization is selling cars so rapidly that the shipments during July were more than 400 percent ahead of shipments one year ago," said Mr. Corcoran.

CHICAGO LIABLE FOR WATER DIVERSION

The point has been raised that the city of Chicago may be held liable for damages caused shipping and riparian owners on the Great Lakes by the lowering of levels by water withdrawn through the drainage canal. It is asserted that the Chicago sanitary district could be held legally for damages, irrespective of whether it has the permission of congress to divert the water or not. We think there is force to the contention.

Decisions by the supreme court of Wisconsin and doubtless by the supreme courts of other states are to the effect that the state has no proprietary rights in the beds of navigable lakes, but that it only holds the beds in trust for the benefit of the lake shore owners, and it cannot destroy these benefits without making provision for adequate compensation and remuneration. If the principle laid down by our state courts is right then congress has no authority to permit a private person, corporation or municipality to drain the Great lakes or take water from them that would be damaging to riparian owners and shipping and navigation interests. It follows that if this is true it ought to be possible to enjoin the city of Chicago from taking water, no matter whether authorized by the war department or by congress or both, on the ground that irreparable damage would result.

The legal phase of the diversion of lake water by Chicago is worth the attention and consideration of the lake states. It is possible that an end may be put to this steal, which is seriously lowering the lake levels, by means independent of the legislative or administrative branches of the federal government.

VICTOR F. LAWSON

The passing of Victor F. Lawson terminates the career of a publisher who has left a deep imprint on the American newspaper. Mr. Lawson set up and throughout his life advanced the doctrine of truth, decency and substance in the publication of a newspaper. He was one of the founders of the Associated Press, which ever since its establishment has maintained its position as the greatest and most dependable of all news gathering agencies in the world.

Mr. Lawson's type of journalism has been to some extent supplemented by the purely commercialized modern newspaper and by the sensational or so-called yellow sheet. We have both of these types, and yet in the aggregate they constitute but a small proportion of the press of the country.

Perhaps it is not too much to say that the ideals and principles incorporated by Mr. Lawson and others of his kind in the newspaper profession and business are the foundation of the predominant independent daily. Those newspapers of the highest repute have consciously or unconsciously followed in the footsteps set by this able leader. Publishers all over the country owe a great deal to Mr. Lawson for his pioneer work and for his demonstration of the fact that in the long run a truthful, moral, fearless, free, sane press is the greatest asset both to the owner and the public.

THE LEGION AND GOVERNOR BLAINE

The American Legion has been holding its seventh annual state convention at Stevens Point, attended by more than 5000 World war veterans. Governor

Blaine was one of the speakers at the convention. It seems to us that this was a curious twist of prophecies. The state commander in his address dwelt almost entirely upon the importance and need of adequate national defense.

The American Legion as an organization is vigorously committed to national and state policies that will afford reasonable protection to this country in the event of war, and that will train the citizen-soldier for his own protection. It is an enthusiastic supporter of National Defense day. It believes in keeping our house in order and in a state of potential preparedness for eventualities. Governor Blaine scoffs at national defense. He has twice refused to participate in the observance of National Defense day. He is demagogic in his criticism of national policies that minimize both the possibilities and the perils of war.

In his address at Stevens Point he spoke of the establishment of the Tomahawk Lake American Legion sanitarium, with the usual "line" of the politician about assisting "the comrades who needed help and protection and extending aid to dependent widows and orphans." The governor gave no indorsement to the cardinal principle for which the American Legion stands in its conception of government and military defense. We cannot imagine that his bid for American Legion support will awaken a very hearty response.

THE GOSPEL OF DISCONTENT

"Bilikin," the god of things as they are, is a false god.

The world will never be saved from ignorance and poverty except by a loyal devotion to the God of things as they ought to be.

It is the divine spirit of discontent with evil, waste, superstition, injustice and inefficiency that has resulted in every piece of progress that humanity has ever known.

The Revolutionary fathers grew discontented with taxation without representation and dumped English tea into Boston harbor and fired the shot for liberty that was heard around the world.

It was the spirit of discontent that sent the pioneers into the wilderness to carve an empire out of the wilds and build a civilization that was to produce the mightiest nation of modern times.

It is the divine spirit of discontent that has enacted every line of social legislation, every law providing for the relief of the needy and the encouragement of the handicapped.

It is because men have become discontented with ignorance that colleges and universities have been built, that telescopes have been perfected, that stethoscopes, spectrosopes and microscopes have been invented.

It is the divine discontent with evil that has fired men to outlaw that which traffics in the souls of men and women.

Back of the lifework of every great soul that has ever blessed humanity has been a mighty discontent. No other fact will explain the life of Saveranola, Loyala, John Knox, John Wesley, Dwight L. Moody or Frank W. Gunsaulus.

So long as a family is discontented with dirt, a community is dissatisfied with low-grade amusements, a church is restless in inactivity there is hope of progress.

WAITING

How long has it been since you've written a line, that you know gives the old folks some cheer? How long since you've told them you're getting on fine? Just a week, or a month—or a year?

It's always too easy to merely forget to write to your mother and dad. The days gonna come when you're sure to regret, that your system of writing was bad.

You always feel sure that they have you in mind and are waitin' to hear from their kin. How little it takes, after all, to be kind, for they're pleased when the letters roll in.

You plan, day by day, that you'll start out anew, and you'll write, so's to head off their sorrow. Then something turns up that you'd much rather do and you put off the task till tomorrow.

Your mother and dad get to frettin' 'bout you when you've left them and started to roam. It seems that the least that a person can do is to keep up the writing back home.

PHYSIOLOGY OF SWEAT BATH

If I ever find a publisher who wants to get with "flow," I'm gonna get out a series of books telling the unvarnished truth and omitting the usual humbug of health books. I shall begin with an elementary or fundamental work on the functions of the human body, and I suppose I shall entitled this luminous volume Brady's Cynical Physiology. In fact the entire series I have in mind would be strictly cynical. I hope to keep my necks out of the hands of old women of either sex.

Although I have repeatedly asserted that no poison or waste matter of consequence is eliminated through the skin, that is, in the sweat, no one competent to debate the proposition has ventured to challenge the assertion. Mind I say nothing of consequence, which means practically no poison or waste matter. It is well known to physiologists that certain substances normally found in the urine are also found in the sweat, though in comparatively insignificant quantities, but no circumstance, in health or in sickness, is anything of a person's character or any important "wound" or "waste" matter excreted through the skin, in the sweat or otherwise. People who barked health experts or health department employees or "authorities" subsidized by bath tub manufacturers or other proprietary interests write up essays in which the unsophisticated layman is urged to bathe often and so assist the skin in doing its work, these inept writers are prone to fall in with popular error, being more concerned about getting out stuff which will please their employers than they are about the real physiology or hygiene of the question. The skin is practically not an excretory organ—practically, I say—and anybody who bathes with the idea that he helps the skin "do its work" betrays his ignorance of physiology.

If there is one popular error which is almost unassailable it is the notion that some kind of "poison" or "waste matter" may be eliminated through the agency of a Turkish bath or some other form of sweat bath, whether the heat be applied in the form of electric lamps (electric cabinet "baths"), or by hot air, or steam bath or hot pack or hot mud or what not. People who complacently accept the meaningless diagnosis of "rheumatism," or still worse "neuritis," as an explanation of their trouble are especially fond of the illusion that such baths "eliminate" some vague "poison."

These various kinds of sweat baths are still employed by physicians in the treatment of certain cases of Bright's disease, and no doubt some good doctors who have not kept "up" on physiology harbor a vague fancy that such baths induce the elimination of nitrogenous substances—just what substance or why it should be eliminated is part of the mystery. It is difficult to obtain any definite opinion about that; the doctors who still cherish this notion are diffident about putting their views into words, just as are the old fogies who still talk about "colds."

This is what the sweat bath does: It induces an increased blood flow, an increased metabolism (oxidation process in the tissues and the consequent combustion of more tissue substance or fuel, which naturally produces about the formation of more acid combustion products, chiefly carbon dioxide. These acid combustion products, carbonic acid, etc., escape from the body mainly through the lungs, and in less quantity through the urine and in the least quantity through the sweat. When these acid combustion products have been eliminated from the blood the blood will be left more alkaline. And this is the beneficent effect of the sweat bath—it helps the body to oppose acidosis and maintain a relative alkalosis, chiefly because of the elimination of carbon dioxide.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. Benjamin Told

Not to repeat all the "been told's," will cold water massage help to reduce the bust? (H. E. M.)

Answer.—A thorough cold water massage of the kitchen, pantry and laundry floors every morning will help some.

Correspondence Course Doctor

Every morning we have for breakfast sliced peaches, apple sauce, berries or other fruit in season, which we eat with cream of milk. A friend tells me her doctor claims that all fruit but bananas eaten with cream or milk will in time undermine one's health. Is this true? (Mrs. C.)

Answer.—No, it is just some physiology invented by the mail order school of practitioners. Individual taste is the only criterion of the combination of milk or cream with fruit.

CRAB FISHING IS DYING OUT ON CHESAPEAKE

Voyage on Bay at One Time Was Like Sailing Through Bowl of Gravy, Is Report

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—A good many years ago, according to old memoirs in the library of congress and in private collections, there were so many fish, crabs and oysters in the Chesapeake bay that a boat had to navigate rather slowly. According to old reports, sailing on the bay was like sailing through a bowl of gravy because the water was so thick.

Today a different situation exists and it seems more than likely that the bay is going to lose one of its most valuable denizens, the succulent crab.

In the spring of the year the crabs begin to come up the bay from the warmer southern waters. If the reader will refer to the map he will see that the southern reaches of Chesapeake bay are Virginia territory. Maryland lies farther to the north. Maryland has a law that fishermen, during the early part of the season, must throw back into the water all the female crabs they may chance to catch on their fishing lines. This law is religiously obeyed. Virginia has no such law. So, early in the season, when the crabs are beginning to come up, the Virginia fishermen catch them indiscriminately. At first it made no difference. There were enough crabs so, despite the Virginia catches, they came up the bay in great quantities. Now it is different. Because of the females, the supply of crabs has run short. Virginia still is catching crabs but Maryland is getting only a very few. The breeding season having been interfered with, there are practically no crabs to come north.

URGES UNIFORM LAW

Governor Ritchie of Maryland has been greatly concerned about the matter and arranged a conference with Virginia authorities in an effort to get Virginia to pass the same sort of a law that Maryland had. This proved fruitless.

Nearly everyone in the United States who pays much attention to his country has heard of Eastern Shore of Maryland. It is a distinctly southern section and one is not supposed to pronounce the R. Natives always say "the Eastern Shore." There is a good deal of fine farm land there but the principal industry is fishing. In the winter time the population of the Eastern Shore makes its living from the gathering of oysters in the summertime, the same people derive their support from crabs. But now the crabs have disappeared. In addition to sending live crabs to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and Washington, many of them used to be canned in large factories located in the picturesque towns to be found in that region. Now these factories are closed down and the people who formerly were employed by them have had to find other work.

There probably has been no more romantic industry in the country than this crabbing and oystering industry of old Eastern Shore. Men who have been familiar with Chesapeake bay since childhood are engaged in it. The usual system is for a man to go into a partnership with a canner. Between them they buy or build a boat, each owning half of it. The fisherman then goes out and gets oysters in the winter and crabs in the summer. When he has a cargo he returns to the factory and unloads; then goes out again. He carries half of the profit. The oystering is the more interesting end of the business. Save that one never says "oysters" on Eastern Shore. The words is pronounced "arsters."

Q. When was the first oil well in the United States brought in? M. L.

Q. We know that the earth is not a perfect sphere. If a surveyor were to establish a true meridian and at some point on it other than the equator, turn an angle of 90 degrees, and project this line around the earth, would the line come back to its starting point? T. R. L.

A. The Coast and Geodetic Survey says that a geodesic line may be considered to be the line on a non-spherical surface that most nearly corresponds to a great circle on a sphere. Suppose a geodesic line starting westward at right angles to the meridian in latitude 40 degrees N., longitude 75 degrees W., and continuing around the world. This line will again reach latitude 40 degrees North in longitude 74 degrees 04.2 west and ern Shore. The words is pronounced "arsters."

CAN'T DREDGE

It is against the laws of the states of both Maryland and Virginia to dredge oysters in a power vessel of any sort. There again, we must conform to the dialect of the Eastern Shore. One never speaks of "dredging." It is "drudging." Oysters, or arsters, may or may not be dredged or drugged save by an old fashioned sailing ship. No vessel with any steam, gasoline or other power apparatus is permitted on the oyster beds. Clearly the work is done by a distinctive Chesapeake bay craft, the bugeye. It is similar to a schooner, except that the bugeye carries no topsails. A two masted schooner carries a jib and flying jib, a foresail, a fore-top-sail, a mainsail and a main-top-sail. A bugeye has just three sails: An enormous jib, an enormous foresail and an enormous mainsail. Instead of stopping at the gaff, as do the sails of a schooner, the sails of a bugeye keep going right on up to the very peak of the mast. Some of them are 70 feet high and when a bugeye with its three sails get a good strong breeze it will walk like a ghost, heeling over into the water, with its lee gunwales under the foaming spindrift up to the middle of the deck.

Maryland and Virginia maintain patrol boats to enforce the laws governing the oystering and crabbing. There are certain restricted beds, preserved by law. Practical oystermen like to get on these rich beds, throw their dredges overboard and bring in the oysters by the hundred weight. The patrol boats are always on watch for this sort of practice. The oystermen frequently try to sail out on a cold winter's night, perhaps in the midst of a gale when no one but a brave man would venture forth; and get a load of oysters. But the patrol boats usually find out about it and they do not mince matters. They know they are dealing with hardy men. They may drop a prominent shot across the bow of a poaching oysterman and a stiff battle may ensue.

NO BIG PROFIT FOR FRUIT MEN

United States Leads the World in Growing and Shipping of Apples

Frederick Simpich, In The Country Gentleman.

Since that day in Eden, when Adam and Eve staged the world's first apple deal, trade in this fruit has spread to the ends of the earth. Romans, so history relates, took young trees to England. Now, nearly 2,000 varieties of apples grow there.

Apples were the first of all fruits that we Americans grew in commercial quantities.

Today we not only lead the world in apple exports, we get more money from apples than from any other fruit we sell abroad. Canada is our chief competitor. Halifax, next to New York, is the greatest apple-shipping port.

Although we ship apples to every continent, England is our biggest customer. We exported over 5,000,000 barrels of the 1923 crop of apples—the highest movement on record.

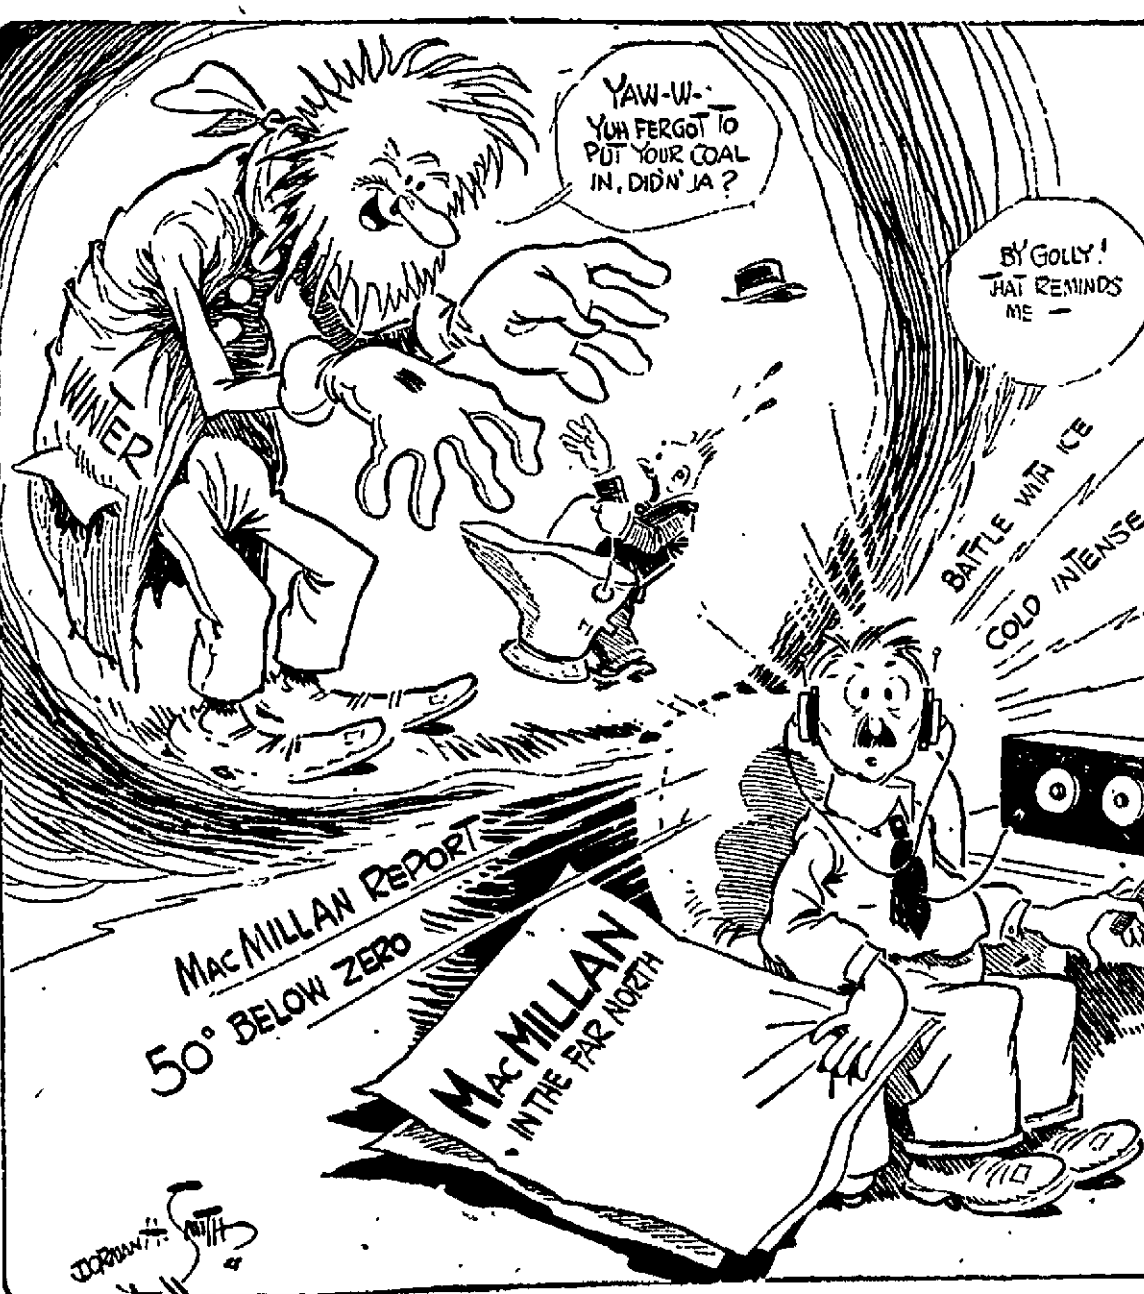

Over a period of years, our apple exports have averaged from 8 to 14 per cent of all apples picked and sold.

This export trade is of vital importance to every man who grows apples to sell—even to the smallest orchardist, whether he himself exports or not. For these sales abroad serve as a balance wheel to our giant industrial apple machine here at home.

In itself, export trade may earn no big share of the industry's total profit, as realized by the growers. Also, history shows it has not always earned profits for those engaged in actual exports. In fact, big fortunes have been amassed by fruit-exporting firms. In bad years they lose heavily.

Yet to the industry as a whole this export is of enormous value, year after year, because it absorbs that surplus which, if forced onto the home market, would only mean a recurring glut and depressed prices.

Raise Chickens In Your Back-Yard

No; you don't have to bother with incubators. You needn't invest money in expensive buildings.

You don't have to buy feed—or at least not much. You don't have to wake up every morning to the crow of a rooster.

ALL you have to do is to follow a set of simple instructions and gather the eggs.

The Government chicken book tells how to feed a small flock of hens in the back-yard on the table scraps. It is illustrated with photographs and diagrams.

Write to our Washington Information Bureau for a copy of this interesting booklet. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

CLINTONVILLE JUNIOR FARM FAIR IS SUCCESS

Clintonville—Last Wednesday's Junior Agricultural fair proved a great success. Many fine floats made up the parade and numerous exhibits of livestock and grain were shown. The actual killing and dressing of a number of chickens by Louis Hausen and the lecture on how to dress fowls, fish and rabbits attracted great interest. It is estimated that some 2,000 persons visited central park during the fair.

TYPICAL DE MILLE ALL-STAR CAST IN "MEN AND WOMEN"
 Richard Dix, Neil Hamilton, Joan Blondell, Claire Adams and Robert Edeson are featured in William de Mille's latest production for Paramount, "Men and Women," coming to the Fischer's Appleton Theatre for a 3-days' run on Tuesday.

"Men and Women" is an adaptation by Clara Beranger of the successful stage play by David Belasco and Henry C. DeMille. In the picture Dix has the role of a young bank cashier, who borrows his company's securities to make a "clean up" in Wall Street. After "Manhattan" and "Too Many Kisses" Dix is one of the most popular stars of the screen.

Hamilton, another most popular leading man, plays Dix's assistant in the production. He is in love with his superior's wife, played by Claire Adams, and doesn't put himself out at all to keep it a secret.

Miss Adams, who made her debut in Paramount pictures in "The Fast Set," also a William de Mille production, is well cast as Agnes Prescott, the luxury-loving young wife of the cashier. It is her longing for the luxuries of life that leads her husband to borrow bank securities and get himself into a bad scrape.

Also Harry Langdon Comedy. News and other novelties.

"THE SIGN OF THE ROSE"
APPROPRIATELY TITLED
 "The Sign of the Rose." What is the meaning of the title of George Behan's new picture of that name which comes to the New Bijou Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

"The Sign of the Rose," in the first place, was written by George Behan, its star, who also supervised every detail of the production. The story concerns a humble Italian who enters a flower shop in quest of just one rose for his little dead daughter.

Waiting in the shop is a wealthy woman who has received an anonymous letter demanding that she appear at this rendezvous with a large sum of money which she is to hand without question to a man wearing a rose. In return she is to be taken to her child who is held for ransom by kidnapers. Sharing her vigil is a detective eager to apprehend the criminal. He is sure that the Italian (played by George Behan) is the man because he is a foreigner in search of a single red rose. Out of this play of cross-purposes comes the big scene of "The Sign of the Rose." It leaves no one in doubt of what the title of itself means, or its relation to the picture as a whole.

It is doubtful if "The Sign of the Rose" could be as appropriately called by any other name.

"LADY WHO LIED" IS A LAVISH FILM HIT
 Tense, terse, thrilling—here is stark drama, stark as the desert against which some of the scenes are pitched, yet smoldering with a passion akin to the blistering sun that heats the sands.

That's "The Lady Who Lied," latest of the Caravee epics of the sandy wastes, showing at the Elite theatre today and Sunday.

Never to the writer's mind has the importance of the director and his technical aide been more strongly emphasized than in this production. Too often the public looks merely to the cast, and if it contains their favorite or favorites they see the picture.

Caravee and his technicians have reproduced such locales as the Sahara, Algeria, Venice, with a telling realism. In fact, as regards the desert scenes, we see no difference between those in "Son of the Sahara," a previous Caravee production, and the present one, yet we are told that, while the former was actually made in the vicinity of Biskra, border town of the Sahara desert, the latter was filmed within the enclosure of a Hollywood studio.

BARTHELMIESS FILM STAGED IN FLORIDA
 The Richard Barthelmess company made a special trip to Florida to film scenes of "Soul Fire," the screen adaptation of Martin Brown's drama of a young genius, "Great Music," which comes to the Elite Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Accompanying Barthelmess was John S. Robertson, the director, a number of players, including Belle Love, Arthur Betsworth and Otis Harlan, and a technical staff.

RADIUM SAFE BEHIND INGENUOUS SAFEGUARD

By Associated Press
Prague—Great ingenuity has been displayed by the Prague Radiological Institute in protecting the radium in its possession, and the methods are regarded as so complete that the kindly old professor responsible for the safety of the treasure has no fear of burglars.

The priceless substance, first of all, is stored in tiny stoppered phials, and these are in a larger glass container completely sealed by fusing the orifice. Next comes a thick-sided lead box, which is carefully locked up in a modern indestructible safe. All around the safe, a few inches apart, hang loose chains, making it impossible for any one even to approach the safe without moving them. The slightest movement of a chain rings an alarm bell in the watchman's quarters.

When 'bobbed hair' became the vogue several years ago, hair pin manufacturers throughout the country found themselves facing a serious problem. For with the increasing popularity of bobbed hair, the demand for hair pins decreased with equal rapidity, and the manufacturers suddenly discovered that they were headed toward certain failure unless a new demand for hair pins could be created.

The Scolding Lock Hair Pin Co. of this city, located at 1520 W. Rogers ave, found itself in just such a predicament about one year ago, but by creating a new demand for its product through a most novel advertising stunt, it has not only successfully existed through an unusually dull business period, but enjoys today a much larger business than at any time in the history of the organization.

LABEL DID IT
 And it owes its present success entirely to a little label which reads "For Bobbed Hair," and which is found on every box of invisible hair pins manufactured by this firm. Simple, to be sure, but within a few months' time this label has not only saved the company from complete failure, but it has created an even greater demand for the product than was ever enjoyed by the firm before bobbed hair and beauty parlors became a part of the daily life of women.

It was in June, 1924, that the Scolding Locks Hair Pin Co. found itself with $50,000 of stock on hand which could not be moved. Practically every available foot of space in the factory was covered with boxes of hair pins piled from the floor to the ceiling, and there were no prospects for any sales.

ages. Another example of the enormous increase in business which has been realized during the past year is that of a Chicago jobber who now has a standing order of 2,500 pounds of hair pins per month in comparison with an average monthly order of less than 200 pounds one year ago. Only last Thursday an order was received from a jobber in Kobe, Japan, for more than $300 worth of goods.

OPERATE AT CAPACITY
 For the past several weeks the machines which turn out the invisible hair pins have been running 24 hours per day and six days every week, and still the company is finding it difficult to fill all their orders. An average of 35 men and women are employed there. About two-thirds of the employees are women.

All of the machinery in the factory has been improved almost 100 per cent during the past two years, according to Mr. Krug. This has been a big factor in the success of the firm. The improvements have been largely accomplished by A. B. Weissenborn.

OUT THEY GO
 Only a few hundred orders were labeled at first, as the idea was merely an experiment. However, the experiment proved successful almost at once, and it was not many weeks before every box of invisible hair pins that left the factory carried this label.

Now orders that are received there specify that hair pins for bobbed hair are wanted. It only required advertising to show women the pins were adapted to bobbed hair. Once they found out, the demand was assured.

In June, 1924, the firm had the lowest volume of business in its history. In June of the past year it was enjoying the largest volume of business since its organization. The volume of sales in that period actually increased more than 700 per cent.

It now has business connections in every state in the union, in Canada and in Japan. Its trade with beauty parlors now averages from five to seven tons per month, and all of this stock is sent out in one pound packages.

vice president. Many of his improvements are being patented.
 All of the boxes containing the pins are finished in the same color, lavender and white. The adherence to this plan acquaints people much more readily with the product, according to Mr. Krug. Sales of the invisible hair pins were further augmented a short time ago when special display cards, each containing 12 boxes of pins, was put on the market. Drug stores and department stores put these display cards on their counters, and many extra sales are made in this manner.

And speaking of bobbed hair, the popularity of this style of haircut is waning, in the opinion of Mr. Krug. "Long hair is coming back," he said. "The passing of bobbed hair will be as slow as it was in reaching its general favor of women, but it is passing out of style, nevertheless."

This same opinion is held by Pierre Victor Senegas, hairdresser, who conducts a shop near Fifth-ave, New York. He probably knows more beautiful women than any other man in America, and he probably has cut more women's hair than any other man.

 He says that bobbed hair is losing its popularity for several reasons. Many heads of hair have been spoiled from continued treatments in beauty parlors. This fact, combined with the large cost necessary to keep bobbed hair looking well, will soon push the short hair cut to the background. Beauty parlors everywhere are reporting that more false hair is being used at the present time than ever before.

by women who are either letting hair grow out or are attempting to cover up those portions which have been ruined by treatments.
 But despite all the hair bobbing he has done, Senegas still prefers long hair to short.
 Short hair, he declares, is all right for the street, for sport, for business. But with the evening gowns short hair is like wearing the street shoes. "Yes," he reiterates, like one whistling to keep up his courage, "long hair will come back. It will come back."

WOOD PATTERN INDUSTRY HERE GROWS RAPIDLY

Martin Van Ryzin Has Been Making Patterns for Castings for 20 Years

People who are not very well acquainted with the manufacturing industry, or with any kind of machinery do not know that modern machinery is practically all cast from wood patterns. With the enormous amount of machinery being used today, and with the many new machines now coming into use, the wood pattern industry has greatly increased within the last 20 years.
Appleton has one of these wood pattern industries which is the shop
of Martin Van Ryzin on S. Superior-st.

Mr. Van Ryzin started in the wood pattern business in Appleton about 15 years ago. His first shop was on N. Durkee-st. on the site of the Standard Oil company's present office and warehouses. Constantly increasing business caused him to move to a location on Clark-st. where he made patterns for a number of years.
About a year ago Mr. Van Ryzin, who business with the mills of the Fox River valley had been very substantial, moved to a still larger location in a building on S. Superior-st.
in the rear of the Post Crescent plant.

Wood patterns are made at Mr.
Van Ryzin's shop for practically all kinds of machinery. Patterns are made for gasoline engines, and for dynamos. There is quite a demand for patterns for hydraulic pumps, and other large pumps. When the wood pattern is made, any number of machines, engines, or pumps can be cast from this wooden shell. Mr.
Van Ryzin does quite a large business for out of town manufacturing concerns as well as for Appleton mills and factories. He has turned out many patterns for the Fox River
Paper Co. of Appleton, the Oshkosh
Universal Foundry co. and the Kean Brass works.

Mr. Van Ryzin also does hand carving work to some extent, but only does this as a side line, because manufactured articles such as book ends and lamp stands can be bought
so much more cheaply than they can be carved that there is no profit in spending the time to hand carve them. He says that the demand for hand carved items is decreasing in pattern making. Mahogany also is used to some extent, but this is much more costly than the pine.

DEMAND FOR SOFT WOODS KEEPS UP DURING SUMMER

Demand for softwoods is well sustained, and although fall requirements have yet to be filled, the principal mills during the first thirty-
two weeks of this year had shipped ninety-nine per cent of their production. Orders continue to be for mixed assortments, showing that buying is being kept close to requirements.

Recently, however, there has been noted a tendency to buy somewhat further ahead, according to reports to the American Lumberman, Chicago, as the yards wish to make sure that the fall crop movement will not prevent their having adequate stocks
when fall demand is at its height.

Mill stocks of the principal soft-woods, southern pine and Douglas fir, are rather low. Those of southern pine especially are badly depleted,
and there has been some difficulty
experienced in placing orders for mixed cans. The Coast fir mills have much lower stocks than they held July 1.
The middle western demand for building items of both these woods has been very active, and a larger share
of it is coming from rural trade.
Upper grades of both are becoming scarce. Fir is in more call in California, and Atlantic coast trade continues heavy though temporarily
hesitant because of advancing prices
and vessel rates, which have also influenced export demand. Production of southern pine is a good deal below mill capacity, as price returns have not been such as to encourage maximum output. The fir mills fear
a log shortage because of the closing of more camps due to fire hazard
and if one occurs it will enforce many shutdowns.

Babson Sees Investment Opportunities In Bonds Of Reorganized Companies

Babson Park, Mass.—When securities are high, as at present, investors
naturally look about for opportunities that would not otherwise appear attractive. Roger W. Babson today suggests that bond issues in the process of reorganization often offer an opportunity for both safe investment and for good profit. In connection with this he today issues the following statement:

"Several reorganizations which have been under consideration for a long time are now being announced,
some officially, others unofficially.
Among those which have created the most interest is the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company the first mortgage 7 per cent bonds of which defaulted about two years ago and which sold in the 50's shortly after the default.
The proposed reorganization plan provides for giving these bondholders
about $500 in cash, $500 prior preferred stock, and the overdue interest in other preferred stock and possibly for paying off of the bonds entirely. The result of this is that the bonds are selling now approximately at par, the highest price in their history. It is rumored that bonds which are not deposited will receive from the court par and interest although this is not official. Even the debenture 7 1/2% which sold in the 20's are now selling in the 60's.

"Another instance is in the case of the American Writing Paper Company, the first mortgage bond of which sold very low shortly after their default, and are now selling again in the 60's. It is understood that the holders of these first mortgage bonds will receive a new first mortgage bond for $500 and about $700 in new preferred stock. One of the most interesting new cases is that of the New York & Cuba Mail steamship Company (commonly known as the Ward Line) the first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of which have been in default for some time. Very pessimistic stories were told about these bonds after their default, and they sold for about fifty cents on the dollar. $800 is now bid for unexpired bonds and the rumor is that those who hold out will see par and interest.
Of course it will be recognized that in all of these instances, I mention the first mortgage bonds. In the case of companies which had consolidated mortgage or debenture bonds, these junior issues have not turned out so well. This was very clearly illustrated in the case of the Rioridan Paper Company reorganization where the first mortgage bondholders received the equivalent of par and interest while other security holders received almost nothing, unless they were willing to put up more money.

"Among the larger railways which have been in the hands of a receiver
for a time is the Denver & Rio Grande. This company was in the hands of a receiver some time before the reorganization plan was announced, and even now the new securities are not yet distributed. Yet during all these years interest has been paid on certain first mortgage issues while junior issues have been in default. The reorganization plan which is receiving the greatest interest, at the moment, is that of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company. Here is a case-by a peculiar incident—a first mortgage bond issue is not receiving a fair treatment in the minds of many people. I refer to the Puget Sound first mortgage 4's. If these were all outstanding in the hands of the public,
so the bondholders could get together
and take over the property, they would be getting their interest at the present time. Unfortunately, ama-jority of the issue is deposited under one of the junior St. Paul mortgages and it is thus possible for the St. Paul reorganization managers to take advantage of the minority Puget Sound
first mortgage bondholders.

"Many of the best banking houses feel that this action by the St. Paul Reorganization Committee is a distinct mistake and believe that the plan will be amended before being declared finally operative. For any banking house to bring a cloud on a clean first mortgage issue, merely through a technicality, is very short-sighted. Moreover, such action indirectly harms all first mortgage bond issues of all railroads. Certain St.
Paul bankers may temporarily save a little money by that process, but in the end they will lose twice as much.

"A study of reorganizations shows
most clearly that much depends upon the character, courage, and financial resources of the banking house or bond house originally offering the securities. Some people think a bond is a bond irrespective of the house offering it. However, statistics of reorganizations show most conclusively that the character of the house is a most important consideration. Certain houses are willing to spend a large amount of money in seeing their clients through a reorganization, and are willing to give up profits on two or three issues to make good one one if necessary. I have in mind one large distributing bond house which has a remarkable reputation for doing this. That of itself adds to the value of the bond that this certain house is back of. Other bond houses take more of the attitude of the broker passing on to the clients the profits if the bond goes up, and assuming no responsibility if the bond

goes down. These houses have done much to hurt the standing of first mortgage bonds and it is too bad they are willing to forget their trust as some have been doing.

"A study of reorganization committees show that the best results come when a bond house is interested in only one issue, especially a first mortgage issue. When a banking house is interested in the bonds, and also the preferred and common stock,
it is very difficult for it to devise a plan which is fair to the first mortgage bondholders. This may be the difficulty with the St. Paul reorganization committee. It is as difficult to successfully serve two masters today as it was two thousand years ago, when that economist, Jesus of Nazareth, commented on the same general proposition. A wise old Hebrew banker once said to me, 'Bab-son, if you are ever mixed up in a reorganization sell all the securities
you own except one class, putting all your money in the one class, be it bond, preferred stock or common stock. Then fight hard for that one group.' Of course it is best to have your money in the first mortgage bonds, but the really important thing is not so much what your money is in, but to have it all in one group and then fight hard for that one group.

"Next to buying securities in a panic and holding for two or three years
to sell at a profit, when a boom
comes, the best way to make a profit
is to buy at the right time first mortgage defaulted bonds. Most all of these bond sell under their value for they are temporarily under a cloud and the market for them is poor. If you can sell a bond issue just before it defaults, and get good, but never sell just after it defaults. That is the time to buy bonds rather than sell bonds. This especially applies to first mortgage issues which almost invariably turn out better than expected. A study of reorganizations show that in most cases the bondhold-er has received both new bonds and common stock, in place of the old bonds, thus giving him ultimately a considerable profit. This was true of the Union Pacific, Atchison, Northern Pacific and other of our railroad organizations. Similar opportunities are always coming about, and it may be that the St. Paul will offer such an opportunity before the reorganization plan is finally ironed out. During the next year or two there may not be many railroad reorganizations,
but there surely will be some industrial reorganizations which should offer good opportunities.

"Of course one must consider general business conditions and the position of business on the Babsonchart
before buying even defaulted securities. Defaulted bonds—even defaulted first mortgage bonds—are reflection of general conditions. Thus when money rates are low, as at the present time, even defaulted bonds sell at higher prices because of the low money rates. This means that defaulted securities are not as attractive today as they were a year ago.
Business is now in that early portion of the Babsonchart when securities
are abnormally high. General business is today 5 per cent above normal
while a year ago this time it was 13 per cent below normal, so it looks as though we were now at the beginning of a new era. If so, this may be the time to liquidate even certain securities in the process of reorganization. I, however, still advise readers to carefully think before taking a loss
on a first mortgage bond put out by a good bond house which has a reputation of 'staying by its issues.'

NOTE INCREASE IN STEEL DEMAND

Demand for Steel and Steel Products Keeps August Ahead of July

Cleveland — Iron Trade Review
says: "A diversity of new demands spread over many lines of consumption is keeping August marching ahead of July in the volume of iron and steel buying. The rate of this improvement is stepping up gradually as the month proceeds.

In some lines of steel, bookings are exceeding shipments by a small margin. The market still is a day-to-day affair between producer and buyer.
"Incoming steel bar tonnage at Chicago during the first half of August was 50 per cent ahead of July.
Bookings in all finished steel lines
at Chicago at present slightly exceed shipments. Production again has moved a little higher. Chicago is several points better this week and Pittsburg equally so. The Mahoning valley is at 70 per cent of its steel making capacity which closely marks the situation for the whole industry. About 1,500 idle coke ovens have been fired in the Connecticut region.

"An upward movement in coke is ascribable to possibilities to grow out of the unsettled dispute in the anthracite coal regions. Prices of finished steel fall to make any response to the betterment of buying.

PREPARE FOODS WITHOUT WATER IN NEW COOKER

Food Elements Are Conserved
in Cooker Sold by Superior Coffee Co.

An ideal method for cooking meats
and vegetables so they will retain all their juiciness, tenderness, rich
oils and essential vitamins is to cook them without the use of water. For many years this seemed like an impossible task except for a few instances where meat was cooked over a camp fire where it was watched constantly to keep it from burning.
Now it is possible to cook meat and vegetables on any kind of a stove
without water, by using the American Cooker, which is sold by the Superior Coffee Co. 123 N. Appleton-st.

The American Cooker is the result of many years of experience and careful study in the design of a perfect cooking utensil. The body of the cooker is made of aluminum because this material will not rust, chip, or corrode. Besides these advantages aluminum is attractive,
easy to clean, and distributes heat
more evenly than any other metal.
The clamps and base of the cooker
are made of heavily nickel plated steel.

A tight fitting cover retains all the natural moisture and the food aromas of the meat or vegetables being cooked. There is an automatic valve in the cover which opens
when a certain degree of temperature is reached, and lets out all excess heat.

Heat is absorbed in the American Cooker and distributed evenly
throughout the interior by the triple base of asbestos, aluminum, and steel, designed especially for these purposes. By distributing the heat evenly in the cooker, burning and scorching is prevented. The automatic valve is so adjusted that the cooker retains 213 degrees of heat, the ideal temperature for cooking. A very small flame is all that is necessary to maintain this heat. The American Cooker economizes on fuel
as the heat can be always kept at a minimum with much better results,
because slow cooking brings out food values much better than forced cooking.

The Superior Coffee Co. has been selling American Cookers for some time, but has not pushed the sale
earlier, because it wanted to be sure
this product would give satisfaction.
Now the experimental stage of the American Cooker is passed in Appleton, in the opinion of Walter Joyce of the Superior Coffee Co. The cookers have been placed in over 100 Appleton homes and have proven themselves to be very satisfactory. By cooking with the American Cooker,
all the healthful mineral salts, nutritious oils, and delicious natural flavors are retained in the food, as no water is present to soak out these elements.

The capacity for the American Cooker is six quarts, large enough for the average sized family. An eight or ten pound roast can be prepared in this cooker.

weck in awards and inquiries. At Chicago it is estimated 100,000 tons of structural steel work is being bid
on in prospect. The week's structural awards total 22,312 tons. For July they were 237,800 tons against 255,200 in June.

"To the shadow of foreign competition is ascribed low prices brought out this week on the bidding on 15-500 tons of cast iron pipe for Detroit. Domestic shops quoted $1 to $3 per ton below the French figures.
"Shipments of continental pig iron into New England are heavier and are expected to become more so which is accounted for in part by a recent order for 25,000 tons of steel making iron placed abroad by a large American steel interest.

"For the eighth week Iron Trade Review composite of 14 leading iron and steel products point to a state of price equilibrium. It remains unchanged at $37.45."

2 COTTAGES BURNED, WOMAN HURT, AT LOCHYRST

$15,000 LOSS IN EARLY MORNING BLAZE AT LAKE

Appleton Fire Department Prevents Fire from Destroying Whole Beach

Two cottages were destroyed, two were badly damaged, and one person was seriously burned when fire broke out at Lochyrst beach, about three quarters of a mile east of Waverly beach, at 5 o'clock Saturday morning and threatened destruction to all the cottages in the vicinity. The total loss is estimated at about $15,000, partly covered by insurance.

The William H. Zuehlke cottage, occupied by the Joseph Koffend, Jr., family, and the E. A. Peterson cottage were razed, and considerable damage was done to the T. W. Orblison and J. G. Rosebush cottages.

Miss Kate Holz of Elmhurst, a maid employed by the Koffend family, is in the hospital suffering from burns about her hands and chest.

The fire originated in the cottage occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Koffend. It was discovered about 5 o'clock by the Misses Marcella Schneider of Milwaukee and Bertha Fuller of Quincy, Ill., guests of Mr. and Mrs. Koffend.

AROUSE FAMILY
The young women immediately aroused the Koffend family, and after gathering a few scattered belongings, all rushed outside. Miss Holz, who was sleeping in a back room, was not noticed until a short time later when her screams reminded the people outside that she had not yet escaped.

Her bed was on fire and flames leaped about all four walls of her room. Almost in hysterics, the girl finally plunged through the flames to safety, but not without receiving several bad burns.

When the fire was discovered the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building. A strong wind which came over the lake from a southeasterly direction fanned the flames and the structure soon resembled a roaring furnace.

WIND CARRIES SPARKS

The wind carried sparks to the Peterson cottage just a few feet east, and it was not long before the second building also was afire. Every member of the Peterson family escaped from the building before the flames had gained much headway. The Orblison cottage, directly east of that owned by Mr. Peterson, and the Rosebush cottage, which was the next one west to the Zuehlke cottage, were damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars each, but prompt work by the fire department and a bucket brigade soon subdued the flames on these two buildings.

Residents of the beach stated that if it had not been for the efforts of the city fire department, every cottage in the vicinity would have gone up in flames.

FIREMEN HELP

The fire department arrived on the scene a half hour after the fire was discovered. By this time the flames on the Zuehlke and Peterson cottages had advanced too far to get under control, and the firemen devoted their efforts to saving the buildings on each side of the doomed structures.

A group of cottage dwellers was already at work with buckets and ladders at the time the firemen arrived. The Appleton fire company immediately began using chemicals as it appeared doubtful at first as to whether it could get to water. The pumper was established near the Shonick cottage where 400 feet of hose was extended up to the Orblison cottage. The use of chemicals was abandoned when it was seen that the buildings could not be saved that way. It was fortunate that the apparatus could connect with the lake, otherwise the entire colony would have been destroyed, according to Chief McGillan. A strong wind was blowing at the time.

A company of the Menasha fire department arrived at the colony shortly after the Appleton firemen. Besides using chemicals they assisted the Appleton firemen in handling their hose. A troop of Boy Scouts from St. Mary's church, Menasha, who happened to be in the vicinity, aided materially in extinguishing the flames. Not only did the boys join in the bucket brigade, but they performed valuable services in preserving order among the thoroughly excited residents of the beach.

Chief George F. McGillan of the Appleton fire department was very profuse in his praises of the work of the boy scouts.

"The scouts did wonderful work in removing the bodies from the Orblison cottage which was ablaze and in keeping the people away from the live wires that had come down," he said. "Whatever the firemen told them to do they did, and did it well."

Mr. Peterson placed his loss in excess of $6,000. He had $3,000 insurance on the building. All of his household furnishings were destroyed. The loss at the Zuehlke cottage is estimated from $3,000 to $4,000, and is partly covered by insurance. Damage of several hundred dollars each was caused to the Orblison and Rosebush cottages.

DIDN'T KNOW CAUSE

The origin of the fire has not been determined. Mr. Koffend is of the opinion that it either started from a defective wire or from an overheated fireplace. He said the family had not retired until about 1 o'clock Saturday morning, being kept up by the illness of one of the children. They left a fire smoldering in the fire place when they retired, and he thinks that this may have overheated the walls near the fire.

MISSSES STICK; CHOPS OFF FINGER WITH AXE

While chopping kindling wood at his home at 721 S. Lawrence, Arnold Flentie misjudged a stroke of his axe, and chopped off the index finger of his left hand while holding a stick of wood in that hand, and swinging the axe with his right hand. The accident happened at 6 o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. Flentie was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital. The entire finger was severed by the axe blow.

KISSEL MAKER SETS SPEED MARK

Motorcop Chalks Down 65 Miles an Hour Against Prominent Manufacturer

Fride in his own product probably caused the arrest of W. L. Kissel of Hartford, manufacturer of the Kissel Kur, at about 9:30 Friday evening, and also caused one of the county motorcops to drive his "iron steed" at a much faster pace than it has had to travel for a speeder at any time this year. Mr. Kissel took the title of the county's fastest driver for 1925 with ease when he hit a clip that must have been near 70 miles an hour on highway 26 in the town of Hortonla.

Elmer Rohm made the arrest while Kissel was hitting 65 miles an hour after a chase of several miles. Kissel was taking his family north for the weekend on a dhad car full of people. He paid Rohm a fine of $10 and costs totaling $12.20 and went on his way to the woods. His car was a special-built Kissel with all the modern extra equipment that could be used. By striking the 65 mile an hour rate he took the county title from Edward Casperson of Appleton, who had traveled at a 55 mile an hour clip earlier in the year.

STOLEN CAR REPORTS FLOOD POLICE STATION

The volume of reports of stolen automobiles received at the Appleton police station every day is so great that it is practically impossible for policemen to give much cooperation in joining the search for their recovery.

Policemen are given the license numbers of the stolen cars daily, and they make an effort to check up on all strange and suspicious looking cars. They concentrate chiefly, however, on the lookout for cars stolen in this section of the state. Saturday morning's mail brought about 25 reports of stolen cars from Indiana, Illinois, and other nearby states.

THREE YOUNG MEN HURT AS CAR GOES IN DITCH

While enroute to a dance at Nichols Thursday evening, Francis Lucia, of the town of Bear Creek injured his arm and Sylvester Brice of Bear Creek and Edward Prunty of the town of Bear Creek were badly bruised and cut by flying glass from the windshield of a touring car in which they were riding when they struck a rut in a road and the car skidded in a ditch. ## C. C. CAUTIONS ITS MEMBERS ON AD SOLICITORS

Lawrence College Blotter Has No Sanction at College Office, Corbett Says

The Appleton Chamber of Commerce Saturday issued warning to its members against subscribing to the indiscriminate solicitation for advertising.

Every year members of the local chamber and other business men are approached for the purpose of buying advertising space on what is purported to be a Lawrence college blotter. Business men subscribe because they think that in so doing they are helping the college. This was denied by Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, who says that not only have the college authorities nothing to do with the enterprise but that they also discourage its use of the name of the school for the advertising scheme.

The blotter is again to be published and the soliciting is done by a private advertising service employing college men for this purpose. If business men are anxious to help students, they might as well give them the money outright rather than buy advertising space from which the students derive but a part of the profits, Mr. Corbett said.

Use of the name of the Wisconsin National guard also is being made in soliciting of advertisements for the publication of periodical calling itself the Badger Trooper number of the Wisconsin National Guard Review. According to Col. Byron Beveridge in a communication to the Appleton Chamber of Commerce the advertising enterprise has no official connection with either the guard or the Wisconsin National Guard Review, of which he is editor.

PERUVIANS AND CHILEANS MIX

Will Be No Further Trouble, Declares General John J. Pershing

Arcia, Chile. (AP)—If the view of General John J. Pershing prevails, there will be no further demonstrations of hostility against Peruvians such as occurred Friday when Chileans pursued Peruvians, selling a newspaper printed by the Peruvian delegation to the plebiscite commission to the doorstep of General Pershing, throwing stones and otherwise maltreating them.

General Pershing immediately after the incident, in conversation with Augustin Edwards, head of the Chilean delegation demanded that immediate steps be taken to insure the protection and free movement of Peruvians inside the plebiscite area.

The Peruvian newspaper is being published under the Peruvian steamship UCVASIN. The anger of the crowd Friday apparently was aroused over the fact that the two Peruvian paper sellers who later were chased were accompanied ashore by Sarah Wambaugh an American author, and Prof. Albert A. Giesecke, director general of education in Peru, both of whom are members of the Peruvian plebiscite delegation.

DALE MAN BADLY HURT TRYING TO HOLD WILD HORSE

Louis Spiegelberg Disregards Warnings and Suffers Fractured Skull

fooling around "tame" horses is a dangerous enough occupation for any man, but when Louis Spiegelberg of Dale, tried taming bronchos just off the ranges of Wyoming Friday afternoon, he found the job still more dangerous and he now makes his home at St. Elizabeth hospital in this city. Spiegelberg is in a critical condition, suffering from a severe injury to his back and a fractured skull as a result of his escapade.

Stating that he knew all there was to know about horses, the Dale man, who resides on the Frank Siefert farm, persisted in helping the men who were in charge of the sale of horses recently stolen in Montana by J. A. Boyd and shipped to Dale. Boyd was arrested for the offense and Sheriff P. G. Schwartz was selling the bronchos. Repeated warnings by the sheriff and Jule Denhardt, auctioneer failed to keep the Dale man away from the horses. Finally one of the animals reared up on its hind legs and knocked Spiegelberger down, driving his front feet against the man's skull and inflicting a severe wound. The horse also stepped on the fallen man's back, causing a severe injury.

Henry Meyer, said to reside on Wisconsin-ave in this city, also was a victim of one of the animals when he got too close. He lost a finger nail when the broncho grabbed his hand in its mouth. It was said he was lucky not to lose his hand. Alfred Dunn, county motorcop, detailed to patrol duty at the sale, showed his ability as a cowboy by roping the wildest of the bronchos. The horses were pastured at the Charles Hoffman farm.

Little Marquise, John seemed all mixed up. All his ideas about women had been proven wrong. He had evidently thought that if he could get to me, get his arms about me, the whole episode of which he felt I was making too much ado, would be blotted out. And the awful part of it is, little Marquise, he was right.

At that very moment I was hating myself because I was thinking how glad I was that I had him once more where I could at least see him. My husband is very good to look at, little Marquise. I know I must hasten on and get the whole thing over if I did not want to surrender.

"Jack," I said, "the trouble between you and me is that we are both too serious. Before we were married we used to laugh a lot. We always found something to smile at when we were together."

"Jack," can you remember the time when you and I have laughed hilariously together? It has been almost a year since you and I have danced together and yet you used to say to me that you would rather dance with me than anyone else in the world."

"Poor girl!" said Jack. "you have been having a hard time of it. Between the baby coming and the deaths in your family your days have been filled with pain and grief. I've never seemed to realize before what a hard lot women have. Men can get away from all the little things and big things which hurt and grieve a woman, but your sex can not get out from under."

"There you go, Jack; you are getting serious again. If I have my way after tonight, I am going to dance and laugh and wear pretty clothes and probably flirt a little."

"In other words you are going to make it very serious for me, aren't you?"

"No, I'm just going to try and make it pleasurable for myself. You know we are going to try and be friends, Jack. I don't think we have ever been friends. We have only been lovers."

"Yes," I continued catching the expression on his face. "You certainly must confess that we've never been very 'pally.' Let's just say we're going to try this friendship business and let it go at that. If it doesn't work, then we'll know we made a mistake in thinking that we were the two people that Destiny planned for each other."

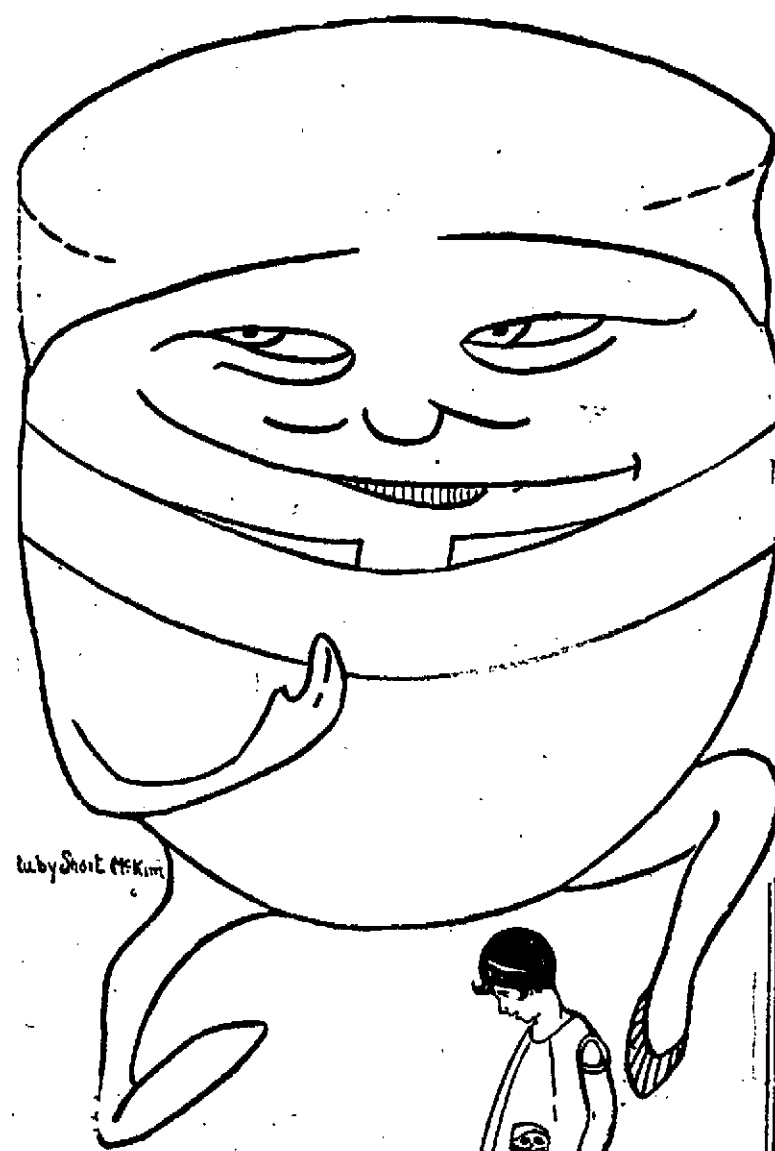

"I always go into see the boys before I go in to bed. Do you want to come with me, Jack?"

My husband, little Marquise, rose so quickly that I knew he was quite as ready to stop talking as I.

"I'm going into the room in the apartment that I had used as a nursery. It was the first time that I have ever entered this room with John without feeling his arm about me."

HUMPTY DUMPTY POCKET NEW IDEA FOR TRIMMING CHILD'S CLOTHES

Often one has two remnants which are a possible combination for a frock for the school girl, but it is always a question just how to design. Mrs. Wiggins made Tommy's pants from blue, back brown, because Tommy couldn't be going and coming at the same time. To build a wall of the darker or heavier material and upon this to set Humpty Dumpty is another new idea.

Unbleached muslin is excellent complexion color for Humpty; his cap and clothes could be additional applique or marked as the features in outline stitch. The mouth should be red, collar white satin-stitch, and the other lines black outline. Be sure to allow a seam and top hem for the pocket. The legs, of course, done directly onto the dress.

FOR SPOTS ON MARBLE
You can remove grease spots from marble by spreading over the surface a paste made of fuller's earth and water. Allow it to stand for a few days, then wash off and polish.

FOR MORE SERVICE
You can mend a leak in your hot water bottle with layers of mending tissue. Apply with a warm iron. Let cool and harden for a day or so before you use it.

OILED SURFACES
Oiled surfaces, whether stoneware or floor should not be wiped with soap and water. Kerosene is much better.

IT DEPENDS
For a large family to buy flour by the bag is as foolish as for a small family to buy it by the barrel.

CLEANING CLOTHES
All cleaning clothes should be washed, rinsed and dried after being used.

IN GLASS JARS
By keeping food in transparent glass jars you can detect the first signs of decay and often remedy them after.

FOR HARDWOOD FLOORS
On a hardwood floor use no water. Wipe with a cloth moistened with kerosene oil.

WOMEN GAIN SUCCESS WITH LIBRARY WORK

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

NEA Service Writer

New York—If a young woman has an ambition to become the director of a large city library, the chances of her success are greater if she first learns to be a good housekeeper.

That is what Rebecca Rankin says. She is one of the leading women librarians of the country, having made a conspicuous success as head of the New York Municipal Reference Library.

"The management of a library involves exactly the same qualities the good housekeeper must have," she said. "System, orderliness and routine. After that one needs to be something of a student in order to handle the reference and research end of the work, and have some business ability and the social instinct for her contacts with people."

"These are woman's natural heritages, except possibly the business instinct, which is easily developed."

SALARIES SMALL
The academic requirements are high—one must be a college graduate, with from one to two years in a library school to obtain a library degree.

There are many clerical positions in libraries to women of less education, but they do not lead to the position of head librarian unless these qualifications are met.

"The librarian puts in about the same amount of time at work that the business woman does," Miss Rankin continued. "Forty hours a week is the rule, but this is arranged on different schedules, so that day and night work are distributed."

"Increases in salary are provided for by an automatic scale of wages as well as for individual merit. The remuneration is below that of teachers but above that of clerical and secretarial work. The average salary is around $2000 a year. Five thousand a year is exceptional."

"To compensate for the low salary, however, library work has the advantage of imposing little strain on the nerves and health and there is no such rigorous discipline as in teaching."

BOOKWORMS NOT WANTED
"There are many more women librarians than men, and the conditions have been influenced by woman's taste. A library is usually an attractive, interesting place where one comes in contact with kind and cultured people. Thus library work is respected and draws an extremely cultured and cultivated class of women."

"The bookworm type usually makes a bad librarian and is very much mis-cast in a public library. There is little time for reading."

"Another consideration in favor of the librarian's profession is that marriage is no bar. A woman's job gets better as she grows older. If she grows with her job. She is of much greater value in her 40's than her 20's."

Kewanee, Illinois.—"When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine. Last spring and summer I got all run-down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay up only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do all my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my teens and until I started taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. MARY R. "The first place the prince sought was the blue lake in the mountains. 'There as before was the ivory castle and the gardens and the princess. This time she beckoned.' 'What happened then?' asked Nick."

"The prince jumped into the water, sank and finally came to the castle. It was a real castle—not an inn as all as he had supposed. The prince had hunted all over the world for something that he found right near home. It shows how people try sometimes to make something very hard out of something that is easy and simple."

FOLLOW RULES IN COOKBOOK FOR SUCCESS

Correct measurements are absolutely essential to assure successful cookery and inexperienced cooks must follow certain definite rules to have their cookery results please them. The measures in recipes found in the new standard cook books, woman's magazines and most newspapers are level and the measurements are standard. Careless measuring make waste. Half-pint measuring cups, pint and quart measures, and teaspoons and tablespoons of regulation size should always be used.

Flour should always be sifted before measuring, then sifted again with other dry ingredients except sugar. Never pack flour when measuring it. The more one sifts the dry ingredients, the lighter the baking will be. To measure dry ingredients, fill measure rounding full with a spoon or scoop, without shaking, and level with a knife.

Weights are more accurate and in some cases more convenient than measures and there should be in every kitchen a dial scale of several pounds capacity, and in institutional kitchens a platform scale for meats and bulky provisions.

OBSERVE RULES WHEN YOU USE THE TELEPHONE

BY CYNTHIA GREY

The etiquette of the telephone is probably less generally observed than any other of the so-called social amenities.

Those poised persons who can maintain a smile throughout the most terrific boredom, who select the right fork by instinct, and can face a wooden butler with equanimity—these very persons sometimes revert to savagery when they take up the telephone.

Nothing can be more annoying as a telephone. We can readily understand how a person zealously trying to get a certain number and finding his ardent unreciprocated by the telephone operator is tempted to hurl the instrument out the window or attack it with an axe.

But the point is that however furious you may get at the phone, you really shouldn't visit your rage on the innocent victim at the other end of the line.

There are so many annoyances caused by telephone bores, who are not bores in any other way and at any other time.

There is the woman who has nothing to do, so she calls you up for a nice long visit, just when you are the busiest.

There is the one who calls up her friend at the office and holds up the business phone while she rhapsodizes on her latest bear.

There is the woman who enters the gratifying voice who wonders if it would be too much trouble for you to run across the street and call Sally Jones who hasn't a telephone—lucky soul.

There is the imbecille who greets you with, "Guess who this is?" or the one who infuriates you at the start by demanding, "Say, who is this anyway?"

There is the telephone jollier who always has to telephone when out in company, and makes this sort of a monologue designed purely to entertain the people who can't get away.

There is the woman who enters your home and immediately starts toward the phone with, "Dear, you don't mind if I use your phone, do you?" then proceeds to make half a dozen calls when you have already exceeded your limit.

We should learn this about the telephone. Most people don't enjoy talking over it, so we should make our messages brief. We shouldn't hold up busy wires or expect the telephone operator to be omnipotent. We should be as courteous to the know persons over the telephone as we would be if we met them. And we shouldn't borrow telephones or ask others to act as recruiting agents for the demand is urgent.

There is the one who calls up her friend at the office and holds up the business phone while she rhapsodizes on her latest bear.

There is the woman who enters the gratifying voice who wonders if it would be too much trouble for you to run across the street and call Sally Jones who hasn't a telephone—lucky soul.

There is the imbecille who greets you with, "Guess who this is?" or the one who infuriates you at the start by demanding, "Say, who is this anyway?"

There is the telephone jollier who always has to telephone when out in company, and makes this sort of a monologue designed purely to entertain the people who can't get away.

There is the woman who enters your home and immediately starts toward the phone with, "Dear, you don't mind if I use your phone, do you?" then proceeds to make half a dozen calls when you have already exceeded your limit.

We should learn this about the telephone. Most people don't enjoy talking over it, so we should make our messages brief. We shouldn't hold up busy wires or expect the telephone operator to be omnipotent. We should be as courteous to the know persons over the telephone as we would be if we met them. And we shouldn't borrow telephones or ask others to act as recruiting agents for the demand is urgent.

The FLAPPER WIFE

By Beatrice Burton © 1923 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Gloria didn't answer him at once. She had made up her mind not to see him again.

And besides she was angry with him for making an appointment with the tailor. He might, at least, have tried to persuade her to spend the afternoon with him, she thought. "No," she began.

Wayburn laid one of his hands on her arm.

"Oh, have a heart, Russel," he pleaded. "I'm getting away in a week or two. I can't hurt anybody if we see each other once in a while, can it?"

"All right," Gloria yielded. "I'll bring the car here tomorrow at this time. Would you like to drive out into the country?"

"Sure. We'll watch the grass grow, and listen to the zany whistling in the amfaluia trees," Wayburn answered, nonsensically. He showed his strong white teeth in a broad grin, and went.

Gloria watched him go. He carried himself with an air of engaging insolence.

"He's the best-looking man anywhere," Gloria remarked to herself, "but I wonder if I'll ever see that $200 again."

She didn't know what she would do. Stan failed to pay it back before Henry Moss' bill came in.

She walked along College ave. window-shopping as she went. The little red dress with the bell-shaped waist was still in the show-window where she had seen it a few days before.

"I think I'll go in and try it on," Gloria thought. "Of course, I can't afford it. But I'd like to see how I look in it, anyway."

She went into the store.

"There's a little dress down in the window that I'd like to try on," she told the saleswoman who came to wait on her. "A little red crepe."

The saleswoman looked at her doubtfully.

"That dress in the window is a small size," she said. "I don't believe it's big enough for you."

"Nonsense," Gloria said sharply. "I weigh only 115 pounds. I always wear misses' sizes."

She took off her own dress in the fitting-room while the saleswoman went to get the dress out of the window.

Perhaps she would buy the dress after all. If it was becoming.

So long as she was going to see Stan again, she might just as well look pretty for him, she decided.

Gloria drew in her breath as the saleswoman slipped the red dress over her head, and began to fasten it down the back. It was just the least bit tight across the shoulders.

"I'm sorry, but the dress won't go around your waist," the saleswoman said, finally. She straightened up from her task of trying to pull the dress together. Her face was scarlet with the effort.

She slipped a tape measure around Gloria's waist and held it up so she could see the measurements. Gloria gasped.

"Let me try," said Gloria, impatiently. She pulled and tugged at the dress, but it simply would not go around her. At last she unbuttoned it and took it off roughly.

"Would you like to see anything else?" the saleswoman asked.

Gloria shook her head. She put on her own dress, and, carrying her hat and coat over her arm, hurried to the rest-room on the next floor.

She dropped a penny into the weighing machine that stood there, and breathlessly watched the hand swing slowly upwards.

One hundred and twenty-four pounds! Oh, she couldn't weigh that much! The scales must be wrong.

On her way home, Gloria stopped at a drug store and weighed herself again. This time the scales told her that she weighed 125 pounds!

"Well, what do you know about that?" she thought unhappily. "This is what comes of breakfasting in bed, I suppose! But I'll bet I'll lose ten pounds this next week or know the reason why!"

That night Gloria ate no dinner. When Dick had finished his, and Randolph had carried the tray downstairs, Gloria went into his room. "Look at me, Rikky," she said. "Am I getting too fat?"

Dick looked at her critically as she turned slowly around before him.

"You look just the same to me as you always have," he said at last. "I don't see any change in you. You're still the prettiest thing that ever lived!"

"Now, that just proves that you never really look at me! I've gained 10 pounds!" Gloria cried tragically.

"Ten pounds?"

Dick laughed at her woe-begone face.

"Well, what of it? That's not much. And besides a little plumpness is becoming to a woman," Dick answered. "And if you were as fat as the prize-winner in a Turkish beauty show you'd still be the loveliest woman in the world to me."

Gloria curled her lip.

"Unfortunately there's other people besides you to look at me," she said. "People who really see me."

"I suppose I see you with my eyes, Gloria," Dick said quietly.

"That's a good line. Where did you get it?" From a Valentine?

Gloria asked impudently.

The next morning she ate no breakfast.

By 9 o'clock she was on her way downtown.

And by 9:30 she was sitting in a steam-cabin in a beauty-hop on E. College ave. trying to perspire away a pound or two before lunch.

Lunch, she decided, would be a cup of coffee without cream or sugar.

It would stimulate her, she figured, without adding an ounce of weight to her body. And Gloria needed something stimulating.

Her head swam, and there was a ringing in her ears, as she sat in the reducing cabinet.

It was terrible. Gloria felt as if she were being burned slowly at the stake.

Marie, the operator, kept putting towels wrung out of ice water on her forehead. But they didn't help much.

Gloria kept telling herself that she didn't care how much she suffered so long as it helped her to get thin.

But at last she could stand the heat no longer.

"Let me out, Marie!" she cried. "Let me out! I've changed my mind! I don't want to be thin if I have to go through this torture! Let me out this minute!"

Marie gave her an enormous Turkish towel to wrap herself in, and told her to lie down on the wicker couch to rest.

"You're just like all my ladies," Marie said. "They all say they'll never get in the cabinet again. But next day they're back for another sweating!"

Gloria Gregory, and we'll see how much you've lost.

Gloria had lost almost a pound in weight. She clapped her hands.

"Well, isn't that wonderful!" In just that short time! she cried delightedly. "I should say I will come back tomorrow. Marie! I should worry how much it hurts! It's worth it!"

"Now there's just one hitch in this reducing stunt," Marie told her. "Sometimes when a woman loves flesh too quickly, her face sags. Don't you think I'd better give you a facial treatment to tone up the muscles? I notice you're getting a double chin."

A double chin! Horrors!

Gloria snatched up a hand mirror and peered into it.

Yes... Marie was right. There was no doubt that there was a creased fullness under her chin.

"Isn't that terrible!" She appealed to Marie. "Can you really massage it away?"

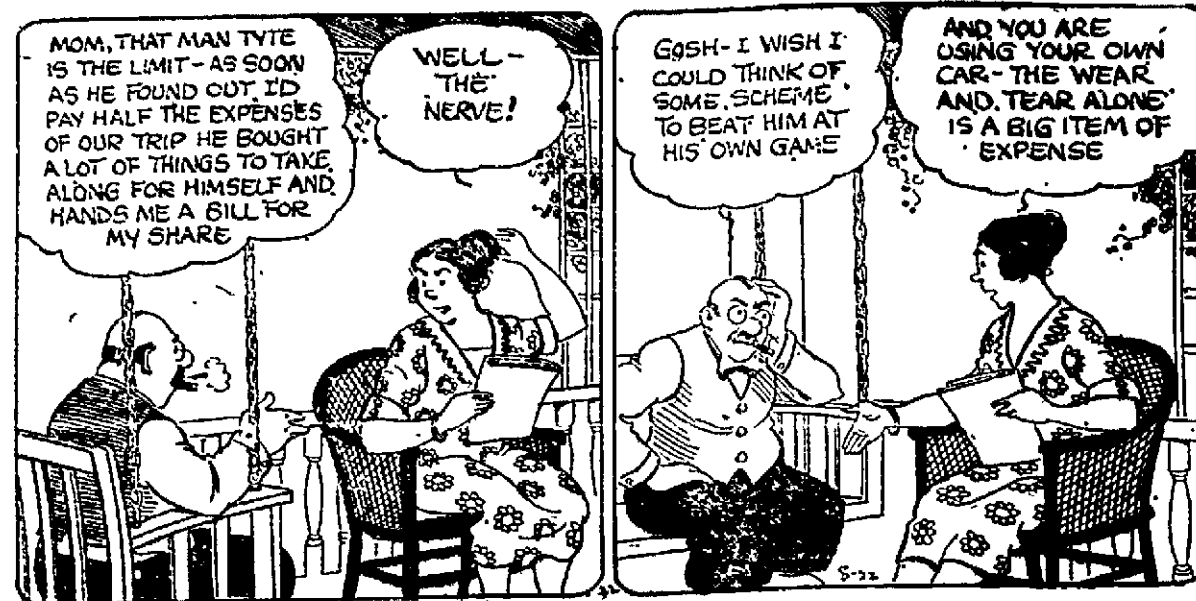

"Massage? Massage has gone out of style," Marie told her. "We put double chins and wrinkles away now with these little paddles."

She picked up two tiny ivory implements shaped like tennis rackets and showed them to Gloria.

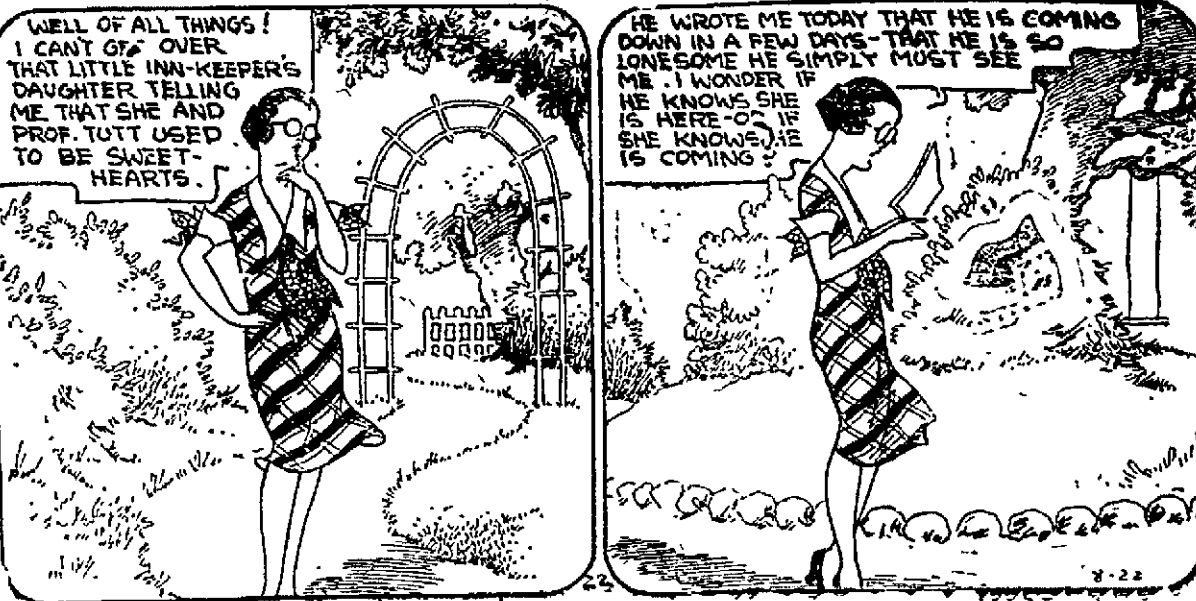

"Japanese women have used them for centuries, and they have the smoothest skins of any women on earth," she went on.

WALSH QUALIFIES IN WESTERN OPEN GOLF MEET

APPLETON GOLF STAR SHOOT-74 IN SECOND ROUND

Butte des Morts Pro Finishes in First 65, Only 7 Strokes Behind Low Score

Frank Walsh, pro of the Butte des Morts golf club in this city, qualified for the western open golf championship Friday at Youngstown, Ohio, by going around in 33-39-74, for a 147 mark for the two qualifying rounds. The local man's mark, which was only 7 strokes behind the low qualifying score, placed him in the finals Saturday with 61 other stars. At Watrous of Grand Rapids, took low honors with 140. All of the Wisconsin golfers entered qualified, Henry Bettel, Oshkosh, getting a 144; A. M. Hunter, Milwaukee, 149; Francis Gallett, Milwaukee, 152.

Walsh has been shooting fine golf and his followers expect him to place high in the finals Saturday against the more experienced men. Among the men that Frank leads are Gene Sarazen and Hunter, while Walter Hagen is one stroke ahead of the local man. While they were not able to cling to par figures for the entire stretch, Bettel, of Oshkosh, and Walsh, still are decidedly in the running with 73's. J. Monroe Hunter, the giant from the Tripoli club of Milwaukee, shot a 74. His tee-work was a revelation and drew favorable comment from the onlookers and rival pros.

Youngstown, O.—Sixty five golfers fought it out Saturday over the links of the Youngstown Country club for the Western Open championship and the final score of the winner promised to come close to the record of 233 set twice in succession by Jim Barnes by winning at Westmoreland and at Mayfield.

At Watrous had the edge at the start for he led at the end of the second round with 70-70-140, but this was not much ahead of several others, for three were tied at 141 for second place.

The race was anyone when the play began Saturday, but with the best scoring that has prevailed, those who were up to 11 strokes behind the leader had a hard task set for them to reach the wire.

2 WOMEN TIE FOR 1925 RIVERVIEW GOLF TITLE

After 18 holes of real golf played under a sizzling sun on Thursday, the women's championship of Riverview Country club for 1925 was still undecided with Miss Joan Clark and Mrs. James Bergstrom both of Neenah, tied for the top honors. Both women had

English Women Coming To Front In Tennis Circles

BY ART CARLSON
For quite a while English women golfers have displayed their superiority over America's premier players. At least since the Cecil-Leitch-Joyce Wethered regime. And this despite the fact that this country over a similar stretch has turned loose a pretty fair quota of stars. Are the Britons now about to emulate their stellar golf feats on the tennis courts? It would seem that such a thing is a possibility.

In the past two years the maidens from across the pond have been making startling inroads in the net pastime. Last season the British team banded the United States ladies a sound trouncing in the international matches for the Wightman trophy. The score was 6 to 1, a double victory by Helen Wills and Mrs. Wrightman saving the Americans from a "grand slam."

TAKE 2ND STRAIGHT LOSS
On that occasion Miss Wills lost both her singles battles. And in straight sets, too. Molla Mallory also went down twice.

This year the Americans, playing on home soil, were expected to avenge the 1924 walloping. But they didn't losing again, 4 and 3.

The English combination was simply too strong, though Miss Wills atoned for her double beating last year by winning both of her singles

ROSIE RYAN DROPS BEHIND WITH BRAVES

Boston—Rosie Ryan, Braves' pitcher, is having a hard time getting started this season. In the first three and a half months he has played the former Giant hurler didn't turn in a single victory. He was charged with six defeats, though only totalling in one complete game.

Last year Ryan topped eight this and lost six for McGraw. The year before he won 16 while dropping five. And in 1922 grabbed 17 against 12 defeats. In three world series he's credited with two triumphs and no whippings.

With the new things have been different, however. And Rosie has been anything but successful since donning the Bancroft club's spangles.

P-C SQUAD BEATS PRESSMEN, 11-7

Victors Strengthen Hold on 1st Place in Twilight Loop at Expense of Colvin Crew

Errors, errors and still a few more errors on the part of the Post-Crescent infield in the eighth inning of a game with the strong Meyer Press crew Friday afternoon at Jones park, almost lost the battle for the loop-leaders after they had run up a 10 score lead in the earlier innings. Just about every one of the 10 extra runs were needed, for the Pressmen scored six times to bring the final score to 11-7, after the Printers had taken a 11-1 lead. Had the Printers scored only seven times in the nine frames the result of the game might have been much different.

The loop-leaders outplayed the Pressmen and had them looking bad the entire game until the big break, Colvin's fine ball, but the P-C dug fighting desperately to hold its slight lead on the peak, was not to be denied. Wagner hurled nice ball and had an easy win until his infield "blew up" by dropping several of the easiest sort of grounders. Colvin's hurling improved after the first four frames when the winner's scored most of their runs, and in the final frames he was well-nigh untouchable.

Eggert and Zussman played real ball in the winner's outfield, pulling down plenty of flies, and Casperson fielded nice for the losers. Hillman starred at the initial sack for Colvin's crew. Zussman, with two hits and a walk in four tries at bat was the batting star of the fray. The Pressmen got eight scratch hits off Wagner's curves and the winners collected the same number of fine balls, but the P-C opponents' hits well scattered, however, while Colvin allowed a few extra in some frames. The Post-Crescent infield also pulled off a nice double play.

Lineups were:
Meyer Press—R. Colvin, p.; Hillman, 1b.; LaMere, rss.; Bayer, c.; Potter, 3b.; Timmers, lf.; H. Colvin, 2b.; Casperson, if.; Weber, cf.; Rehfeldt, rf.; Ashman, ss.

Post-Crescent—Sternard, lss.; Bates, rss.; Zussman, lf.; Hartzell, 2b.; Fries, 1b.; Bente, c.; Rawlisky, 3b.; McIntyre, rf.; Eggert, cf.; Wagner, p.

Meyer Press 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 6 0—7 8 3

fought their way through the preliminary rounds and were playing for the 1925 title and the silver trophy offered for first place in the ladies' division. The tie will be played off next week.

UP AND OVER—FOUR ABREAST

NEARING THE FINISH OF THE LOW HURDLES

Speaking of close finishes, just take a glance at the nip-and-tuck affair these four fair maidens are putting on as they "take" the last hurdle in the 100-yard international event staged at Stamford Bridge, London, England. There is little to choose between them, though Miss Hilda Hart of Great Britain, extreme right, was the ultimate winner.

Al Simmons Helps Keep Macks At Top Of Circuit

Chicago—(AP)—Al Simmons, Connie Mack's high priced outfielder, purchased his share in keeping the Athletics in the running in the close American League pennant race. This flashy fly chaser not only has been holding his own in fielding, but in his last six games he has carried the brunt of the batting for his club. He smashed out eleven blows, one of which was a triple and two of them homers, all through the club, as a whole, recorded in batting during the last week.

Simmons moved from fifth to second place in the scramble for individual batting honors, according to averages compiled today and include Wednesday's games.

The Philadelphia star is now runner-up to Tris Speaker of the Indians, who tops the list with a mark of .362. Simmons is batting .378. Harry Heilmann of Detroit is third with .377 and Ty Cobb fourth, .375.

Ken Williams of the Browns added only one home run to his collection, but is leading with 25. Meneel of the Yankees remaining at 23, while Simmons is trailing them with 21.

Johnny Mostil, White Sox outfielder, increased his base stealing record to 37 and brought his run total to 101, the first player in the circuit to pass the century mark.

Other leading batters: H. Rice, St. Louis .373; Sisler, St. Louis .365; Lamar, Philadelphia .362; Wingo, Detroit .355; E. Rice, Washington .349; J. Sewell, Cleveland .347; Collins, Chicago .345; Combs, New York .343; Hake, Philadelphia .341.

6 CRACK HORSES FACE BARRIER IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Six of the country's finest thoroughbreds faced the barrier Saturday in the $20,000 Chicago special a mile and three-sixteenths event for three year olds and upwards. The affair may develop into a two-horse race between Mad Play, the Ranocosa sensational performer, and Princess Doreen, the wonder filly of the Audley farm. Jockey Laverne Fator will have the mount on Mad Play, which will carry top weight of 126 pounds, while Harry Stutts will have a leg up on Princess Doreen, carrying 121 pounds.

Baltimore, Md.—Kid Williams, former bantamweight champion defeated Migdet Smith of New York in 12 rounds.

MAJOR LEAGUE BALL CLUBS FAIL TO GAIN

Chicago—Nothing net was the product of the day's toll among the major league pennant contenders.

Washington's world champions were playing around in the back yard when opportunity knocked at the front door, anxious to give their newly won lead a boost. Detroit noosed out the Senators, however, 1 to 0, in an extra inning hurler's duel, while Chicago was giving the road weary Philadelphia Athletics their daily trouncing, 8 to 2. Washington thus retained its one game lead.

The standing Friday night:
Washington ..... 74 41 .641
Philadelphia ..... 72 41 .637
Rain in the eastern cities caused postponement of all National league games, including the all-important double-header carded between Pittsburgh and the Giants at the Polo grounds. The respite gave McGraw, the master manipulator of toil worn pitchers, an extra day in which to shape up his battered mound crew before it withstands the assaults of the Pirates, enheartened by an even break in the recent series at Pittsburgh. The Pirates rested for the day on their three game lead. The standing:
Pittsburgh ..... 67 41 .601
New York ..... 67 50 .573

Up to the middle of August 920 home runs had been made in the two major leagues. Of these the National boasted 507, or 94 more than the American. A year ago the big league total was 661, showing an increase of close to 300 for the season.

APPLETON FIGHT CLUB TO PROMOTE AMATEUR SPORTS

Boxers and Wrestlers of Vicinity to Get Chance on Big Cards This Winter

Amateur boxers and wrestlers of Appleton and vicinity will have the best chance of their lives to "show their stuff" and get in line for future work in the ring or on the mat if they so desire, as the result of a decision made by the Appleton Athletic club at a meeting this week. The new club has decided to give home talent a chance on some of its big boxing cards, and turn over part of the proceeds to charitable institutions of the vicinity.

The amateurs will go on as part of the regular cards, being used as an intermission feature. The local athletic club believes that it can give the boys of the vicinity a chance, perhaps getting a line on some good material, and also put more local interest into the bouts. Several members of the Lawrence college mat and ring teams probably will be given a chance as will youngsters from the surrounding towns and villages.

Negotiations for the big bouts on Sept. 24 are about complete and will be ready for announcement in a few days. With four of the speediest and "toughest" boxers in the middle west ready to head the card, it promises to be the best in the valley for some time. All of the boxers are in first class condition, according to reports.

SENTINELS MEET LAKESIDE SQUAD

Beyer Crew Reorganizes for Season With Five New Stars Added to Lineup

Greatly strengthened by the addition of several of the best semipro ball players of the county, the reorganized Beyer Sentinels of Appleton will take on the Lakesides of Neenah Sunday afternoon in a Booster game at the Neenah ball diamond. The new crew is out for business and will make several of the fast county nines step to win. The Sentinels have scheduled a game with Dodge Creek to be played at the Neenah Fair in September, but still have a few open dates, including a week from Sunday. Teams wanting games and especially one for a week from Sunday are requested to call John Zussman at 1728-W.

New members of the Beyer crew include Lefty Bonneck, star hurler of the Menasha Riverwolves, Smith, Menasha high school all-around athlete, Eddie Kotai and "Ans" Anzorge, Lawrence college players, and George Krueger, former manager of the old New London Boosters. Anzorge was one of the heavy sluggers of the Fox River Paper Co. team last year and a star of the Delta Iota squad, Blue Interfrat champions.

The probable lineup for Sunday will include Bonneck or Mayeski, pitcher; Aslman, catcher; J. Phillips, G. Phillips, Courtney, Kotai and Hillman, infielders; Krueger, Smith, Anzorge, outfielders. The Lakesides will present one of the strongest lineups of the class Neenah Industrial League.

Macks Lose Fifth In Row But Hang On As Senators Drop Battle To Detroit

Athletics Show Signs of Collapse Which Wrecked Team's Hopes in Past Few Years

New York—(AP)—Beaten in five successive games the Philadelphia Athletics Saturday were on the verge of a total collapse such as wrecked early season hopes for Connie Mack in previous years. Defeat of the youthful Quaker City combination Friday by the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2, bore unmistakable signs of cracking on the part of Mack's entry. Pitchers were wild an ineffective against Collins' club.

The tumble of Philadelphia, however, lost the club no further ground in the American League race. Washington, one game in the lead, likewise went down to defeat at the hands of Detroit, as Coveleskie lost an 11-inning pitching duel to Whitehill of the Tigers, 1 to 0.

In spite of the absence of their leader, Tris Speaker, who is out of the game as the result of a similar accident in being struck on the arm by a pitched ball, the Indians put over a 2-1 victory against the Yankees Friday.

Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Browns matched long clouts in a game at St. Louis with the home side runs outstanding the hub artillery 9 to 7. Rice, Boone and Todd made homers.

MANY SPORT EVENTS ON NEW YORK WEEKEND CARD

New York—(AP)—Rain, postponing many major sporting events on Friday's schedule, expanded a weekend program in the Metropolitan section, which had already been crammed with athletic headlines.

Eyes of the diamond throng Saturday was turned on the Polo grounds as the battlegrounds of two ancient National League rivals in the thick of the 1925 pennant struggle as the Giants prepared to make their last stand against the leading Pittsburgh Pirates in the first two games of a five-game series.

Followers of tennis had before them outstanding struggles at the nets in Forest Hills, N. Y., with Helen Wills, American champion, facing Eleanor Goss, fourth in national ranking and Kathleen McKane, English star, matching drives with Molla B. Mallory, former American champion.

At the Coney Island stadium to-night Mike McTigue will box 12 rounds with Tony Marullo of New Orleans.

BENNY LEONARD TO FIGHT NEXT MONTH
New York—Benny Leonard, retired lightweight champion, announced he proposed to reenter the ring next month.

man, infielders: Krueger, Smith, Anzorge, outfielders. The Lakesides will present one of the strongest lineups of the class Neenah Industrial League.

GOLF As Champions Play It

Use the "STIFF ARM" for flat or upright swing

Keep arm firm rather than stiff for both swings!

Should the "stiff arm" rule be followed regardless of whether the player's swing is flat or upright? Or should the upright swinger bend the left arm?

BY CYRIL WALKER
National Open Champion, 1924.
The word "stiff" is wrongly applied to the left arm. I would recommend the word "firm." Yes, this applies to both the flat and upright swinger.

Iola	3	9	.250

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Clintonville at Manawa.
New London at Iola.

Fur is sure to fly Sunday in the Waupaca County League when the fast Clintonville squad, the loop leader, meets the rebuilt Manawa crew at Manawa in one of the crucial games of the season. Manawa beat Iola last Sunday and much new strength has been added since that time. A win for the home crew with New London coming from Iola, the cellar champs, will give three of the four crews excellent chances at the batting.

New London in second place will be less than a game from the F. W. D. crew, while Manawa will be only 4 game and a fraction behind the Edison city squad. New London beat Clintonville last Sunday to pull the loop leaders down a notch. Both Sunday tilts were "hummers" with the Edison gang winning, 3-2, and Manawa taking Iola's measure.

Grand Rapids—Tiger Flowers, of Atlanta, Ga., won a decision over Alton town Joe Gans, Allentown, Pa., in ten rounds.

DEATH OF LAWSON MEANS PASSING OF GREAT MAN

I smiled and said "My good fellow, why we make United States senators?"

And the truth is he not only made United States senators but he made some of them. He never regarded his newspaper as anything but a public trust, something to be used not for the advancement of personal ambition but for the good of the community and the country.

Fairness and impartiality were characteristics of his decision. No matter how tangled or complicated the problem was everyone who had dealings with him always felt that once the case could be presented to Mr. Lawson the verdict would be just.

Such a man might have been a United States senator and might have even been a member of the cabinet of a president. He did not seem public official, he had no ambition or them. He was full of sympathetic understanding whether they were republicans or Democrats. Though he supported the Republican nominees for president in 1916 he never joined the ranks of those who ridiculed or bitterly assailed the late President Wilson. With the domestic policies of Mr. Wilson he was for the most part in absolute disagreement but on the Wilson effort to achieve leadership in foreign affairs for America, the Daily News stood steadfast for the cause of international cooperation. He had a great admiration for President Coolidge and, particularly the tax policies of the administration for the believed unscientific taxation to be one of the excesses that the war brought and from which American business had to be freed in the next few years or pay a penalty in curtailed initiative and ultimate development of sluggish dressed beef prices; weighty grass steers 10.00 early in butchery fat cows, mostly grassy 25 to 40 cents off; kinds 25 to 40 cents off; common kinds canners, cutters and hulk steady; vealers steady; 25 cents lower; stockers and feeders 25 to 35 cents.

ROSEBUSH TELLS HIS VERSION OF POWER CONTRACT

Northern Paper Mills Head on Witness Stand in Contemnation Hearing

Green Bay—Only through a combination of "very abnormal and extraordinary conditions" could the Northern Paper Mills "for a moment" use the power of Wisconsin Gas and Electric Co. as the result of the joint use of the towers now under construction north of here testified J. G. Rosebush, president and general manager of the Northern, in county court Friday, at the hearing on petition for condemnation of lands in Brown county filed by the W. G. & E.

Even under such conditions, Mr. Rosebush explained, the situation would be discovered almost immediately, because the power which the paper mills would receive in such a way would be hardly enough to run the machines and light the plant efficiently; because the customers of the W. G. & E. would observe an immediate shrinkage of power, and because the meters or instruments of the public utility company would show that an unusual and uncalled for load was being taken off the line.

INES TO BE SEPARATE

Under the contract, the towers are to be used jointly from Green Bay to Amberg; there the lines will separate; those of the Northern running almost due east to White Rapids, and those of the W. G. & E. continuing north to Niagara. Switching equipment is to be installed at both Amberg and Green Bay so that "in cases of emergency only" one party may load its power on the lines in use by the other.

Mr. Rosebush's statement came about as an answer to the question: "Suppose that your line goes down between Amberg and White Rapids, and that at the same time the telephone system goes down. You know there is a break in the line, but being without means of communication you have no knowledge where the break is. But you assume that it is between Amberg and Green Bay. Couldn't you then throw the switches and as a result be taking the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company's power?"

"What a man does through ignorance is one thing—what he does through intent is another," replied Mr. Rosebush. "The situation which you have described is conceivable. It is conceivable that under such circumstances we might be getting their power, but through ignorance, not design. Of course the conditions are altogether abnormal. You have asked what would happen under a combination of three very unusual and extraordinary conditions. In such a case we might be using their power, for a moment."

RULES NOT DETERMINED

"And for a day, perhaps—at least until you discovered the mistake."

"Until we discovered the fact, yes," Mr. Rosebush then asserted that such contingencies would be taken into consideration when the "suitable operating rules, terms and conditions" provided for in the contract, were drawn up. These rules, he said, have not yet been determined, he said, but they would undoubtedly provide that the switch at Green Bay could not be thrown until it was definitely ascertained that the switching operation had been made at Amberg, transferring power generated at the Northern's White Rapids plant on to the lines of the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company.

The proposal to use the towers between Green Bay and Amberg jointly came from the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company, Mr. Rosebush declared. He said that the proposal was made through A. K. Ellis, vice-president of the Peninsula Power company, and general manager of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company in January, Mr. Ellis informing him that the W. G. & E. proposed to build a transmission line along the same route as the Northern, and pointing out that in such a case it would be extravagant for each company to build a separate line.

"And so they adopted your route?" he was asked.

"No, they found that their route and our route were identical."

In response to a question, Mr. Rosebush stated that most of the stockholders of the Northern Paper Mills live in the vicinity of Green Bay and Appleton. "At the present time all are in need of dividends," he added.

MAY CHARGE FOR ADVICE

C. R. Phenicle, vice-president of the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, preceded Mr. Rosebush on the stand. Mr. Phenicle testified that he first learned of the contract between the Northern and the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company, on March 3. He spoke of conferences between the officers of the Northern, including Mr. Rosebush and himself prior to this time regarding the paper mill plan to grant and transmit its own power. Mr. Rosebush had asked for advice in the matter, because of the experience which the W. P. S. had gained in this field.

"Is it your purpose now to claim compensation for these services?" asked James Shaw, counsel for the W. G. & E.

"Well, we haven't rendered invoices yet," was the reply.

Open All Day

The department had been closed in the afternoon during the last three months. All activities will be started at 10 o'clock in the morning from Monday on.
